ECYPTIAN FORM OF COTTON BALE RECOMMENDED

International Cotton Congress Committees Would Revolutionize Cotton Industry.

SEND REPRESENTATIVES TO EUROPEAN MARKETS

Resolution Introduced To Memorialize Congress and British Parliament To Put End To Speculating in Cotton—Other Recommendations.

The recommendation of the sectional committees, which met yesterday afternoon to discuss various technical features of the cotton business, if adopted by the present cotton congress and put into effect, will well nigh revolutionize the cotton industry.

The Egyptian form of cotton bale will be recommended to the cotton congress. Better covering than jute bagging is desired for cotton bales. The other changes include baling at the cotton gin, marking on each end of the bale weight and grade, also more equitable tare and uniformity in bales is desired. The sending of representatives to Europe to sell direct to the spinner the contents of southern cotton warehouses is a movement that is taking definite shape.

Stability of price is favored by the representative of every branch of the cotton industry except the delegates from the cotton exchanges. It is proposed to reduce the business of marketing cotton to such a science and by cementing closer relations between grower and spinner to make fluctuations in price subject alone to the laws of supply and demand.

Work of Committees

The serious work of the cotton congress really began with the meetings of the sectional committees. Here the spinner, the cotton grower and the representatives of the cotton exchanges were brought together for heart-to-heart talks. During these sessions, representatives of the Farmers' union and the Southern Cotton association engaged in vigorous debates with equally earnest and vigorous German and Austrian and English spinners. The views of all sides were frankly voiced and the differences that existed all along the line were threshed out.

The various problems of the cotton industry were divided among the following sectional meetings, as follows:

Growing and Handling Cotton.

Colonel J. L. Maxwell was chairman of this section, and F. A. Flather vice chairman. The topics discussed were:

1. Better cotton by seed selection.
2. Improved ginning.
3. Compressing.
4. Uniformity of bales.

Transportation.

S. Cooledge was chairman of the transportation committee and J. L. Crawford, vice chairman. They discussed:

1. Country damage.
2. Warehousing.
3. Transportation.
4. Insurance.

Contracts of Cotton Exchanges.

The contracts of cotton exchanges was debated in the section of which H. W. Macalister was chairman, and T. H. Rennie, vice chairman. They discussed:

1. Uniform classification.
2. Contracts of exchanges.

Buying and Selling.

W. W. Welch was chairman of the section devoted to buying and selling, Adolph Waibel, of Germany was vice chairman. The topics taken up were:

1. Equitable tare.
2. Buying at net weight.
3. Stability of price.
4. Buying for future delivery.
5. Speculation.

Reports and Statistics.

In the section discussing reports and statistics, W. D. Martin presided as chairman, and W. C. Moore was vice chairman. They took up:

1. Government crop reports.
2. Statistics.

Closer Trade Relations.

The newly created section on closer trade relations between the grower and the cotton spinner was presided over by R. H. Jackson, chairman, and Dr. H. D. Hudson, vice chairman.

Reforms in Baling Cotton.

The discussion as to growing and handling cotton resulted in the recommendation of a bale similar to the Egyptian and having a covering of the same grade of goods or its equivalent in osnaburgs.

The minimum weight is to be 500 pounds and the maximum weight 750 pounds, and the bale is to be marked at both ends, showing grade, staple and weight. It was argued that the stamping of grade on bales was no detriment to the American grower, and was a very decided benefit to the foreign spinner. This plan of marking will prevent cotton being shipped as grading higher than it actually deserves. The ginner will inspect the cotton before it is ginned and baled and he—not the farmer—will mark the grade on the bale. Samples will accompany the bale, and it will not be opened again until actually delivered to the spinner.

Representatives of the farmers' associations declared they were willing to have the bale stand on its own merits,

By JOHN CORRIGAN, JR.

The fifth international congress of the Master Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association, and the second international conference of cotton growers and manufacturers, opened auspiciously in Atlanta yesterday morning.

The first business session was called to order in the hall of the house of representatives by Chairman James R. McColl, of Boston. The grim and austere state capitol had a strange appearance. The Georgia state flag floated from the mast over the pediment of the Washington street entrance. The hall of the house was hung with the flags of all the countries represented in the congress. The speaker's stand was decked out in flags and bunting and shaded electric lights. The visitors' gallery held a brass band, which interspersed the welcoming addresses with the national airs of the various countries, which brought the whole gathering repeatedly to its feet. When the American and English national air was reach-

THE COTTON PLANT

Henry W. Grady's Eloquent Tribute to the Cotton Plant—From An Address Delivered By Him at Rome, Geprgia, Twenty Years Ago.

What a royal plant it is! The world waits in attendance on its growth. The shower that falls whispering on its leaves is heard around the earth. The sun that shines upon it is tempered by the prayers of all people. The frost that chills it, and the dew that descends from the stars are noted, and the trespass of a little worm on its green leaf is more to England than the advance of the Russian army on her Asian outposts. It is gold from the instant it puts forth its tiny shoot. Its fiber is current in every bank; and when loosing its fleeces to the sun, it floats a sunny banner that glorifies the field of the humble farmer. That man is marshalled under a flag that will compel the allegiance of the world and wring a subsidy from every nation on earth. It is the heritage that God gave to this people forever as their own, when he arched our skies, established our mountains, girt us about with the ocean, loosed the breezes, tempered the sunshine and measured the rain. Ours and our children's forever. As princely a talent as ever came from His hand to mortal stewardship.

TO PROVE WIFE'S GUILT HARTJE BUYS LETTERS

Written By Wife's Young Sister to Man With Whom She Eloped.

NOTORIOUS DIVORCE CASE PROMISES TO BE REOPENED

Pittsburg, October 7.—Very little of a definite nature is known here regarding the sensational developments in the Hartje divorce case, wrich are alleged by the woman's husband, Augustus Hartje, the millionaire paper manufacturer, of this city.

The confession which Thomas Madine, the coachman corespondent, is said to have made to Mr. Hartje's representatives has created a profound impression. It was learned today that Madine was married recently and is now in Belfast, Ireland, wth his wife. It is said Madine intends to make that place his permanent home.

Mrs. Hartje Won't Talk.

Mrs. Mary Scott-Hartje, who is visiting at Ligonier Springs, Pa., in a telephonic conversation with this city today, refused to discuss the new phases of the case as alleged by her husband.

The petition to the supreme court results, it is said, upon the discovery of a package of letters alleged to have been written by the two sisters of Mrs. Hartje and Thomas Medine, the object being to show that Mrs. Hartje was guilty of the charges of intimacy brought against her by her husband. These letters of Mrs. Hartje's sisters are alleged to contain damaging admissions. Much documentary evidence and a confession, it is alleged, have been secured from Madine.

Within a short time, it is promised, a still greater sensation than that which came to light this morning will be made public by Mrs. Hartje's counsel.

Concerning the letters alleged to have been writeen by Ida Scott, a sister of Mrs. Hartje, it is said, they were addressed to Howard Lappe, of this city. It was Lappe who eloped to Youngstown, Ohio, with Ida Scott last spring, but parental objections prevented the marriage.

Girl's Lover Sold Letters.

Referring to the letters today, August Hartje said:

"The circumstances surrounding the recovery of additional letters leave no doubt that they are genuine and establish beyond question that the charges I have made were true. The letters from Mrs. Hartje's own sister prove that she knew the charges against the woman from whom I seek a divorce are true. There is no possible way to deny the authenticity or genuineness of those letters sent to Lappe. They were written by a girl wto expected to become the wife of the man to whom they were written, and the very tone shows them to be just as we state. We have the originals, and any one who has any desire to do so can see them.

"I have nothing to say about the man who will sell the letters received from his former sweetheart, for that is what he did. There may have been circumstances which induced him to do as he did, but the fact remains we have the letters which materially help to prove our case, and we own them because we bought them."

What Husband Alleges.

Philadelphia, October 7.—Claiming that they have letters which passed between Thomas Madine, coachman, and Mrs. Mary Scott-Hartje, which will result in a complete reversal of affairs, counsel for Augustus Hartje, the wealthy Pittsburg banufacturer, appeared before the superior court here today to argue on a petition for reopening the sensational suit for divorce which he brought against his wife.

In the petition presented for Mr. Hartje he recites that since the hearing in the case he has secured letters written by Thomas Madine, the coachman, while he was in Ireland, to Mrs. Hartje, while she was at the Hotel Victoria in London, and others which she wrote to the coachman from London. He relates that he is in a position to prove that Mrs. Hartje arranged with the employes of the hotel to have the letters delivered privately to her and that she supplied Madine with envelopes addressed to herself.

Sent Money to Conchman.

He further avers that Mrs. Hartje arranged with a hair dresser, Ambrois, of Paris, to mail letters through him to Madine, and that she received letters from the coachman and sent money to him through the same avenue.

Other letters which the petitioner says he has found since the case was heard were written, he alleges, by Helen Scott and Ida Scott to Howard A. Lappe, of Pittsburg, Pa., in which the writers indicate that unless their parents paid them a certain sum of money each month, they would "turn in" for the petitioner. These letters were written, according to the petition, on April 27 and April 19, 1907.

SHE KILLED HIM TO SAVE SPOUSE

Alleged He Used Gun on Cousin of Husband.

Commerce, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Andrew Williams was shot and almost instantly killed at the home of his cousin, Lonnie William, near Union church, in Madison county, Sunday evening.

It is said that the shot was fired by Mrs. Williams, wife of Lonnie Williams.

Andrew and Lonnie had been on unfriendly terms for quite a while, and Andrew went to the home of Lonnie Sunday evening when the unpleasantness was renewed. The two neighbors and cousins engaged in a fight, during which, it is said, that Mrs. Lonnie Williams secured a shotgun and fired at Andrew, the effects of which produced death. So far as is known here no arrests have been made.

ATLANTA NAME OF NEW DIOCESE

Bishops Provide for Two Episcopal Divisions in Georgia.

Richmond, Va., October 7.—Five matters of interest were discussed during the fourth day's session of the general convention of the Episcopal church today. Four of these took place in the house of deputies. The matter of greatest importance was the discussion relative to the reduction in the number of representatives from each diocese of the church. At the present time there are sixty-one dioceses with a representation of 600. An earnest effort has been made by the delegates from New York and Massachusetts to reduce the representation to three clerical and

WOMAN OF 65 SLASHES BODY WITH KNIVES

In Fit of Despondency Mrs. Dora Kell Tries to End Her Life.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION AT THE GRADY HOSPITAL

Mrs. Kell Had Been in Poor Health for Many Years—Used Two Table Knives in Attempt to Kill Herself.

Mrs. Dora Kell, 65 years old, in a fit of despondency, yesterday afternoon at 3:10 o'clock, while lying on a bed at her residence, 90 Courtland street, slashed her abdomen and breast with two table knives in n attempt to end her life. She was taken to the Grady Hospital in an unconscious condition, and placed on the operating table, Dr. Ellis attending.

Mrs. Kell has been in America about four years, coming here from Russia. She has, nearly all her life, been a constant sufferer and a nervous wreck. During the past eighteen months about ten of Atlanta's best known physicians have been treating her, but no change in her condition could be noticed.

Yesterday afternoon, while talking in a back room with her youngest daughter, Lizzie, and a neighbor, she abruptly left them, going into an adpoining room. A few minutes later she went to the front of the house and laid herself on a bed. A space of about five minutes elapsed, and the absence of the mother commenced to worry the daughter. Miss Kell arose, saying to the neighbor: "Mither must be sick."

Upon enttering the room she found her parent partially dressed, but bleeding copiously frfom two big wounds, inflicted by the two table knives lying on the bed. Mrs. Kell was unconscious. Upon examination it was found she had cut one long gash from over the heart through the center of the boody to the right hip, and one across the lower part of the abdomen.

The Grady Hospital ambulance was was called, and took the wounded woman to the hospital. She was on the operating table for four hours, between life and deth. Dr. Ellis, who supervised the operation, stated at a late hour last night that there were serious doubts as to whether Mrs. Kell would survive her injuries.

The woman can hardly speak English, but has one son and two daugaters who have lived a nunmber of years in this city.

She also has a husband living at 90 Courtland street. No one was in the houe at the time of the attempt, except the youngests daughter, Lizzie, and a neighbor.

Vaudeville Fight to Continue.

New York, October 7.—Answering the declaration of the past week that there was a prospect of peace in the vaudeville business, Klaw & Erlanger have issued a statement that their fight with the Keith-Proctor-Williams combination will go on, and that under arrangements just completed the field of rivalry will be extended from coast to coast.

Dr. Torrey at Chicago.

Chicago, October 7.—Spiritual fited and ism of the up-to-date sort in a lood. floored, seated and steam-heated con are was inaugurated yesterday at ay food Clark and Chestnut streets. The ture of R. A. Torrey preached two stirring gases mons to congregations each of t numbered more than 5,000 persons, the seating capacity of the tent.

At the close of his discourse Dr. Torrey announced that the big tent, which it has cost $18,000 to erect and equip, will be the scene of daily meetings until the latter part of November.

HONDURAS TAKES SALVADOR PORT

Reported That Acajutla Was Captured in September.

ATTACK WAS WELL PLANNED

And Took Place During the Absence of United States Gunboat Yorktown—Washington Says the Report Is an "Absurd Canard."

San Francisco, October 7.—The Pacific mail steamer San Jose, from Panama way stations arriving in this port today, brought word of the capture of the port of Acajutla in the latter part of September by the Honduran land forces after a battle with the army of Salvador.

The attack upon Acajutla is said to have been well planned and to have taken place during the absence of the United States gunboat Lorktown, which was to have looked after American interests on the southern coast. Both the Yorktown, which was proceeding to the north, and the Chicago were at Acapulco at the time of the capture of the port of Acajutla, and at the departure of the San Jose for San Francisco the full details of the battle had not been received.

The Vessel Was Searched.

At Corinto the San Jose's manifest was examined by Nicaraguan government officials and her hold searched for ammunition, after which she was allowed to proceed.

Three months after Acajutla was attacked by Nicaraguans, the gunboat Momotomb shelled the place and drove the governor to surrender.

Since that time further trouble has been expected. Those on the San Jose heard little talk of revolution on the trip south until Acajutla was reached. Here report had it that a naval engagement was expected and attempts were being made to protect the port. However, it was not until the San Jose reached Acapulco that it was learned that Acajutla had fallen. Then the first word received came in the form of a rumor that a gunboat had stormed the port. Later advices which reached those on the steamer were that the part had been taken by a land force and that the victorious army was proceeding northward.

Report Called "Absurd."

Washington, October 7.—Assistant Secretary of State Adee tonight characterized as "an absurd canard" the report from San Francisco that Honduras land forces had captured the port of Acajutla the latter part of September after a battle with the army of Salvador. Mr. Adee said that Honduras and Salvador are on friendly terms and that no suggestion of trouble had reached the state department although the Washington government is in almost constant communication with the Central American countries concerned.

Minister Urgarte, of Honduras, said that he had a cable dispatch this government Saturday in relation to the coming peace conference to be held here by representatives of the Central American republics and that no mention was made of any difficulty at Acajutla. The ministers from Gautemala and Salvador are likewise without advices in any sense confirmatory of the reports from San Salvador.

CENTRAL SUIT BEFORE COURT

Many Prominent Lawyers Are Engaged in This Fight.

In the United States district court, Judge Newman preciding, the complaint of the Central Railway of Georgia against the Georgia railway commission, Attorney General Hart, Governor Hoke Smith and other state officials, was brought up yesterday morning.

It is a bill in equity brought by the Central railroad touching the powers of the railroad commission to enforse its rule reducing passenger fares to 2 1-2 cetns.

The state's legal representatives, doubting the right of the Central Railway of Georgia to use injunction proceedings against the state officials, submitted a demurrer.

Hon. John C. Spooner, of Wisconsin, represents the railroad, being associated with some of the most prominent attorneys in the south.

Judge Cunningham, a few minutes after 11 o'clock, was recognized by Judge Newman, and up to the regular hour of adjournment made his presentation of the Central railway's contentions.

MAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS WITH A GASH IN TEMPLE

Firemen at No. 3 engine house, on Marietta street this morning found a man upon the sidewalk near the building in an unconscious condition.

An inspection showed that he was bleeding freely from a three-inch gash over the right temple. He was carried to the Grady hospital, where it was found his name was Matt Anderson. He was unable to give any explanation as to how he received his wound. The gash was given the surgical attention necessary.

STUDY CAUSE OF DISTEMPER

Wealthy Dog Fanciers Will Have Scientific Study Made.

New York, October 7.—With what is known as distemper, the most dreaded and most fatal of all diseases among dogs, more prevalent than ever before, wealthy fanciers of dogs are arranging for a scientific and careful study of the disease, in the hope that the knowledge gained may lead to the discovery of some means of curing or even preventing the malady.

Under the direction of Drs. V. A. Moore and B. H. Buxton, bacteriologists, and Dr. James Ewing, pathologist, of the Cornell university medical school, a series of exeriments will be undertaken to find the germ of this disease and to discover the relation, if any, between this and dseases that afflict the human race.

All of the faclites of the Cornell laboratories are available for the experiments, but it has been necessary to raise by subscription the money needed to pay the expenses, particularly the employment of an assistant whose whole time will be devoted to this work. Dr. W. M. Polk, dean of the Cornell medical school, will receive contributions.

Dogs Are Aiding the President in His Hunt

NO NEWS FROM CANEBRAKES

Temperature Is Pretty High and Hunting Causes Perspiration, but Roosevelt Is Determined to Enjoy Himself Regardless of Conditions.

Stamboul, La., October 7.—Assistant Secretary Latta started out early today to find the president at his camp in the wilderness, but at a late hour tonight had not returned. It is presumed that when he arrived at the camp the president was out on his hunt, and that Secretary Latta found it necessary to remain over night. He took a number of personal letters to the president. Mr. Latta was accompanied by his host, Leo Shields, who is familiar with the country.

Except that the temperature is too great to render physical exercise enjoyable, the president is having favorable weather. Previous to his arrival there had been no rain for weeks, and the conditions were most unfavorable for hunting, the breaking of dry twigs giving warning to the game of the approach of its foe and the hard surface being very trying to the feet of the hunting dogs.

The Roosevelt Luck.

Indeed some of the dogs the president is using were recently so disabled by this condition that they came near being unfit for his use. The president's proverbial good luck was, however, with him in this, as in other matters, a gentle rain was falling when he arrived at Stamboul on Saturday and there has been two or three showers since. None of them have been of great duration, but they have well served the purpose of putting the forest in the best possible condition for both man and beast in stalking game.

True, the atmosphere is steaming hot between showers, but the president is reported to be showing himself capable of rising quite superior to this condition. Indeed, so far neither rain nor heat has been permitted to interfere with his sport, if the reports which trickle into Stamboul may be relied upon, his entire bearing is that of a man determined to enjoy himself regardless of conditions, even though they be adverse. While he is prepared for rough work, he is also equpped for as much comfort as one can get under the circumstances.

Camp Ground Well Located.

The camp ground is well located and while on low land, is not in a swamp, the site being comparatively dry. Persons who have seen the tent say it is well furnished. There is not only a plank floor, but wooden walls running up 4 or 5 feet from the ground. The table is liberally supplied with fruits, canned delicacies and so far has been supplied with fresh venison.

The president commands the services of Jack Powell, a colored man, who is locally celebrated as the best camp cook in the country. The camp is about 8 miles distant from the house in which Assistant Secretary Latta is established, and provision has been made for as complete messenger service as may be necessary. It is evidently the intention of the president to cut out all routine work except such as may be absolutely necessary.

Secretary Latta's quarters are fitted up for any official service he or the president may be called upon to perform, but the telegraph office at Stamboul is a mile or two distant.

The Temporary White House.

The temporary executive office is in a large frame cottage, and it requires no stretch of the imagination to call it the white house. A telegraph operator has been sent in from St. Louis, and he occupies an office in a freight car on the sidetrack, which has been fitted up for the accommodation of the president. This temporary office also serves the representatives of the press associations who are the only newspaper men on the ground. They were detached from the president's party at Memphis, and owing to the fact that the entire section is scarcely settled, had some difficulty in finding accommodations. They have, however, been taken in by General George O'Hara, who lives about a mile distant from Mr. Latta's headquarters.

LOCAL ITEMS.

COMPLETE ARRANGEMENTS WERE made yesterday afternoon between representatives of Walter Christie, the millionaire inventor, and Secretary Weldon for the appearance of Christie and his 135-horsepower racer on Monday, October 14, which has been designated as automobile day at the State fair. In addition to Christie's wonderful drive there will be a number of local events, including a state championship.

BEN L. GRIFFIN AND WIFE, OF CONway, Ark., are among the arrivals at the Majestic yesterday. Mr. Griffin came to Atlanta to mingle with the cotton men now here assembled. Mr. Griffin was a winner of a European trip at the expense of The Atlanta Constitution.

THE UNITED STATE GRAND JURY FOR the fall term of the federal courts was organized yesterday and was charged by Judge Newman, of the district court. During the morning hours the body formulated and perfected twenty true bills.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS FOR clerks and letter carriers needed by Atlanta's postmaster will take place in the civil service apartmentments, federal building, Tuesday, October 15, one week from tomorrow.

three lay delegates from each diocese, but this was defeated.

The second matter of interest occurred when a resolution was made by Dr. Huntington, of New York, to practically change the name of the church to read "American Church."

Mr. Ole, of southern Virginia, led the fight against it, pleading for a delay, which Mr. Huntington granted with the understanding that the matter should be brought up for consideration tomorrow.

The third matter of interest was the passage of a joint resolution which recognized the diocese of Duluth, and the fourth resolution which practically grants permission to the diocese of Georgia to form a new diocese which it is said would be called the diocese of Atlanta.

Bishops Discuss Negro Question.

In the house of bishops the day was spent for the most part in the discussion of the negro question, which is probably the most important matter which is attracting the attention of the convention. Whether or not negroes are to have their own bishop and practically be a separate church, or whether they shall remain a part of the church and under the control of white bishops, is the question now consuming the time of the bishops and which will later be fought out on the floor of the house of deputies. The strange part of the whole matter is that the bishops of doioceses throughout the south are anxious that negroes shall have their own church and their own bishops, while the northern and western bishops for the most part favor the present plan of white bishops over the negroes. It is said that Bishop Ferguson, of Cape Palm, the only negro bishop and the only negro delegate attending the convention, is not in favor of a separate church and negro bishops.

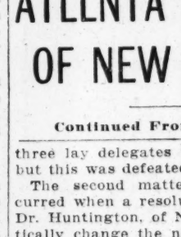

Position of Southern Bishops.

It is openly said that the bishops of the south would be glad to be relieved of the burden of the negro in their dioceses, and for this reason they desire a separate church. However, the northern and western bishops contend for the most part that their responsibility ceases when they furnish the money for work among the negroes, and that they should not be burdened with a class of people who are not in their dioceses.

The house of bishops voted down a resolution offered permitting the sessions of the house to be open to the public.

The Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, the well-known author, from Ohio, offered a resolution asking that the clergy of the church be allowed to invite ministers of other denominations to take part in the services of the church. This came in the nature of a bombshell, but before any discussion was allowed the resolution was sidetracked by being sent to a committee. This matter promises to be one of the most interesting that will be brought before the convention.

TRY TO CHECK SMUGGLING

Estimated That $3,000,000 Worth of Jewelry Smuggled Yearly.

New York, October 7.—The Diamond Importers' Association has been trying for some time to check smuggling which has assumed colossal proportions, according to a report just made by Ludwig Nissen, the chairman of its customs committee. Nearly all the smuggling, according to the importers, is being done by wealthy tourists, because dealers regularly in the trade do not care to take the risk.

Necklaces of pearls, diamonds, rubies and emeralds and hand wrought ornaments in exclusive designs are the articles most commonly smuggled. The value of jewelry smuggled each year is estimated at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

The report asks that smugglers captured in the act be punished more vigorously in the future. Heretofore it has generally been the custom simply to seize the smuggled article and permit the smuggler to go free.

The specific request that the importers now make is that the federal authorities enforce a section of the law that requires offenders to pay the government as a penalty triple the value of a smuggled article, while the article itself is forfeited.

A stirring story of the South for South and North—

MAM' LINDA

By WILL N. HARBEN

This is a tale of the South—excited mobs, a pistol duel in the high road, and a fierce political contest all unite to give continuous dramatic fire to the story. Altogether new is the standpoint from which the race question is treated—the standpoint of the best element of the South. This, and the delightful love story woven through the exciting action, make a novel of wide popular appeal.

TO INVESTIGATE CENTRAL'S BOOKS

Accountant Appointed by Trustees of Income Bondholders.

TO BEGIN WORK THIS WEEK

Accounts of Central Railway and Ocean Steamship Company Will Be Investigated by Accountant — No Difficulty in Getting at the Books.

Savannah, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Authentic information has been received here that an accountant had been named to thoroughl yinvestigate the accounts of the Central Railway and Ocean Steamship Companies, and that he would begin his work during the current week, in all probability.

The accountant was appointed by the trustees of the income bondholders who recently placed their holdings in the hands of the Central Trust Company of New York, representing the seconds, and the Manhattan Trust Company, representing the thirds. There will be no difficulty in getting at the books of the company, as, under the terms of the mortgage, this can be done on the application of one-third of the income bondholders of the company at any time.

SHOWERS AND WARMER FORECAST FOR TODAY

"Showers and warmer" is what the conventions gathered in Atlanta may expect. Those who wear goloshes prepare to wear them now. Sunday was a pretty day, yesterday was not so pretty, and today promises to be the most unpleasant of the trio. The rainy weather is not expected to do the cotton any good, and there are many who will regret to see it come.

WILL OF E. M. ROBERTS ADMITTED TO PROBATE

The will of the late Captain E. M. Roberts was probated in solemn form in the office of Ordinary John R. Wilkinson yesterday morning when the estate, valued at $60,000, was turned over to the executors, named in the will as Charles M. Roberts, the son of the deceased, and John J. Woodside, the son-in-law of Captain Roberts.

The estate is composed of real estate, life insurance and personal property. The will directed that the estate should be divided, share and share alike, among the four children, named as follows: Mrs. John J. Woodside, Charles M. Roberts, Mrs. J. G. Gause, all of Atlanta, and William W. Roberts, of Columbia, S. C. Attorney R. D. Blackburn filed the will.

SALE OF STOCK NOT CONFIRMED

Judge Whipple Would Not Allow Collins' Sale.

OFFER NOT SATISFACTORY

Receivers of Union Savings Bank Recommended to the Court That the Stock Be Held Off the Market for the Present.

Constitution Bureau, Brown House, Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Judge U. V. Whipple refused to confirm the sale of the 768 shares of stock in the Union Savings Bank and Trust Company to Jacob Collins today, and an order was filed holding up the disposition of the property for the present.

Judge Whipple acted upon the recommendations made by Receivers O'Neal and R. J. Taylor, the name of Campbell T. King not being on the order. Despite the fact that this is the second time the property has been placed on the market, there has been nothing offered that has proven satisfactory to the court and the receivers.

In recommending to the court that the stock be held off the market for the present, the receivers addressed the court in the following words:

"Your receivers are informed and believe that said stock is worth intrinsically between $50 and $60 a share, and that the probabilities are that if the bank is liquidated or continued as a going concern, considerably more can be realized from said stock than said offer. We recommend that the stock be not sold for the present."

Kneese Held for Moonshining.

Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.—Henry K. Kneese, a white farmer, of Crawford county, was arraigned before United States Commissioner W. E. Martin this morning, charged with operating an illicit distillery. He was committed under bond of $200 to await the action of the federal grand jury. Deputy Marshal Frank Riley and Deputy Collector C. L. Vigal made the arrest last night. A small still was destroyed and the man was brought in without any trouble.

New Concern Asks for Charter.

Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The Beddingfield-Fleischer company asked for a charter in a petition to the superior court this morning. The petitioners are Messrs. Julius Fleischer, William Beddingfield and E. W. Lipford. The concern has a capital stock of $15,000 and desires to do a bottling business and deal in drinks. The members of the new concern will be engaged in the final plans for business until the first of January, when active business will begin. Macon will be made the principal place of business, but there may be other places throughout the state where branch houses will be built.

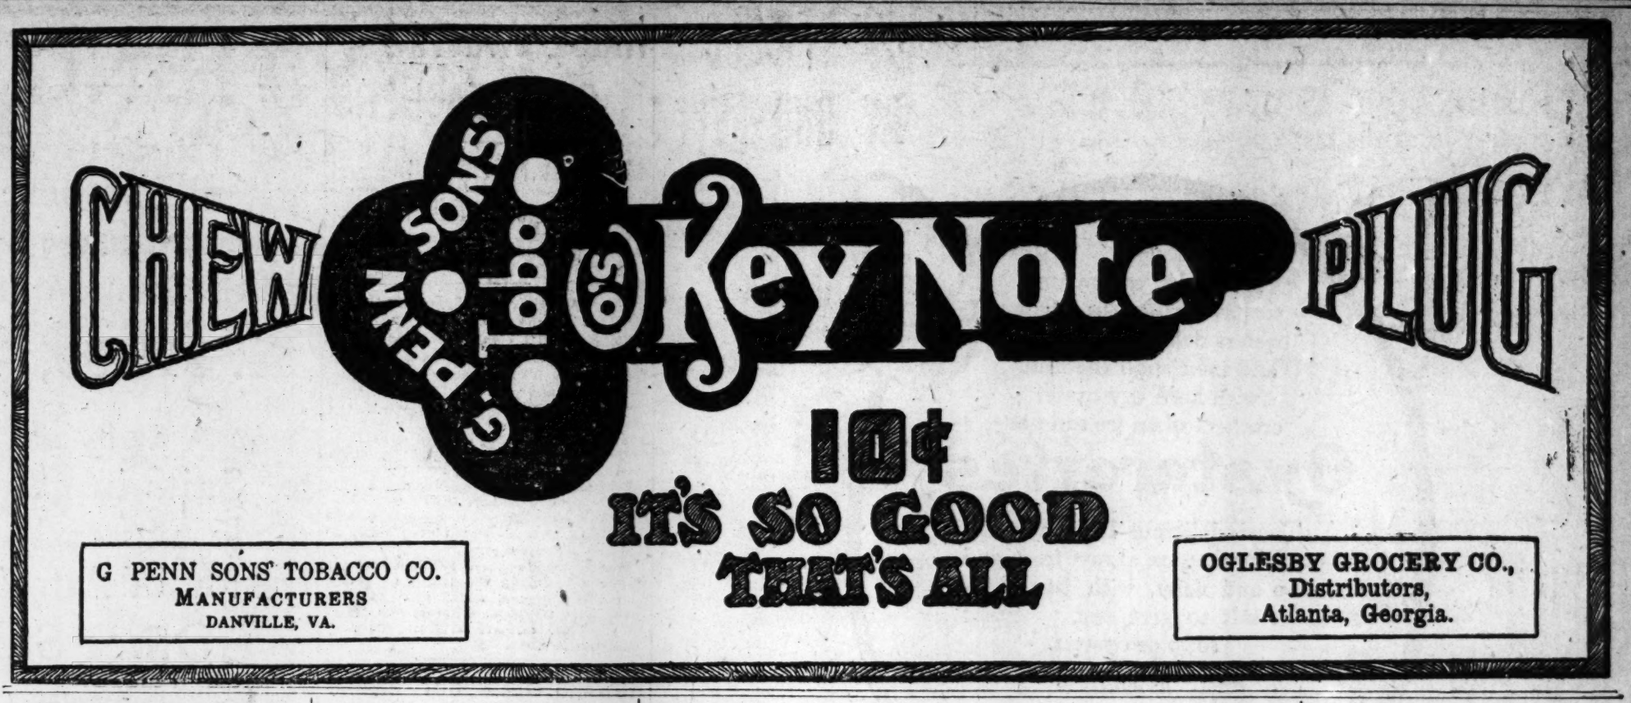

Death of Henry L. Woodruff.

Macon Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Henry L. Woodruff, an architect of wide reputation throughout this section, died at the home of W. A. Goodyear in this city this morning at the age of 80 years. He had been in declining health for more than a year and the end was momentarily expected. He was a brother of the late D. B. Woodruff, and is survived by a wife. The remains will be shipped to New Haven, Conn., tomorrow for the funeral and interment. He had many friends in Macon and the southern portion of the state.

Largest Attendance at University for This Time of Year.

Athens, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The registration at the university passed the four hundred and fifty mark today, which is more than sixty ahead of last session at this time. This makes certain an attendance of more than five hundred during the term, which is far beyond the largest attendance ever recorded at this institution.

SECOND TRIAL OF HARRY THAW

It Will Begin on December 2 Thaw's Lawyer Urged Speedy Trial.

New York, October 7.—Harry K. Thaw's second trial for the killing of Stanford White will begin December 2. This agreement was reached between District Attorney Jerome, Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Thaw, and Justice Dowling, of the supreme court, today. Mr. Littleton wanted the date fixed for November 1, but Mr. Jerome opposed this and offered the date which was selected.

TO DECIDE POSSESSION OF AVARY CHILDREN

On tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock the court directs that the two Avary children, Clarice and Helen, alleged to have been kidnaped by their twin brothers and taken to Washington, Ga., and placed in a convent, be brought before Judge W. D. Elis in order that he may dispose of them.

This is brought to the court upon a habeas corpus writ taken out by A. S. Crumpton, the uncle of the children, from whom it is alleged that the children were kidnaped.

North Augusta Postoffice.

Augusta, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—An interstate rural free delivery route is what the people of North Augusta are figuring on. A movement is on foot among the citizens of that town to get some kind of a free mail delivery, or at least to improve the mail service they now have.

North Augusta is across the Savannah river, in South Carolina. Its mail reaches it through the August post office, but is not made up in Augusta, as the North Augusta post office is separate.

It is the desire of the Carolinians to have a rural free delivery operated or to make the North Augusta office an Augusta sub-station.

UNCLE ARRESTS CLAUD WARNICK

He Is Charged with the Murder of Chester Wilson.

Dalton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Claud Warnick, who was wanted in this county on the charge of the murder of Chester Wilson, a prominent young farmer of this county, was arrested yesterday evening in Knoxville, Tenn. The arrest was made by Gus Warnick, an uncle of the young man, and ex-deputy sheriff of Knox county.

An altercation took place between Wilson and two of the Warnick boys on September 26, when Claud Warnick struck Wilson on the head, crushing his skull, resulting in his death, which occurred the following Wednesday. Warnick made his escape and Sheriff Johnson offered a reward of $200 for his arrest. Both Sheriff Johnson and his deputy, Sam C. Britton, have since made diligent search for him.

It is believed he sought the protection of his uncle, when the arrest was made. He was immediately turned over to the sheriff of Knox county, who notified Sheriff Johnson, of this city, who, with Deputy Sheriff Sam C. Britton, left for Knoxville and will return with him tonight.

The superior court will convene in Dalton next Monday and the case will no doubt come up for trial at this term of court. The Wilson family is large and influential in the county and all energy will be exerted in prosecuting the case.

CHEROKEE MAKES EXHIBIT

County Will Have Splendid Display at State Fair.

Canton, Ga., October 7.—(Speical.)—Cherokee county is to make her first exhibit at the state fair which opens in Atlanta next Thursday. Through the efforts of J. V. Keith, Captain J. O. Robertson and Ben F. Perry some of the products, minerals, etc., of the county have been collected and are this week being installed at the fair grounds by Captain Robertson and T. M. Ferguson.

On account of the people generally being very busy not as good a collection nor as great a variety will be displayed as could have been, but notwithstanding all adverse circumstances, a pretty good show will be made, and those attending the fair should see the Cherokee exhibit and be convinced oh what Cherokee has and can produce.

INJUSTICE DONE TO PILOT

Roosevelt's Use of the "Big Stick" Is Criticized.

Pittsburg, October 7.—The members of the Pittsburg delegation to the deep waterways convention at Memphis returned home last night. They do not agree with President Roosevelt that during the trip to Memphis there was any danger of collision between the steamboat Fred Hartweg, on which was the Pittsburg delegation. The members of the Pittsburg delegation profess to believe that an injustice was done Pilot Nicholas of the Hartweg, who was suspended on orders from the president.

Captain John Moren, who was on the Mississippi, says he was close to the president when the Hartweg came near but at no time were the steamers closer than 100 feet and there was not the slightest danger of collision.

"I was on the Hartweg," said Captain W. B. Rodgers, "and I never saw a fleet handled better. There was no accident and at no time was there the least danger of any accident or collision. The president must have a mistaken notion when he thinks that experienced river men would take any chances at such a time."

FENCE CAUSES INJUNCTION

It Interferes With the Laying of Asphalt at Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—A temporary restraining order was secured from Judge Cann, in the superior court today, directed against the city of Savannah and the director of public works, Harry Willink. The court's order restrains them from tearing down a high board fence constructed about the Chatham academy building, on Bull street.

The Savannah Cut Stone Company is putting up a new school building. The fence interferes with the laying of new asphalt on Bull street. The affair has aroused deep local interest, and the outcome, when the injunction proceedings are carried further on Saturday, will be eagerly awaited.

What He Found.

(From Harper's Weekly.)

He was a new deputy sheriff, and had been out on his first trip through one of the most unproductive sections of Warren county, Kentucky. Among other papers given him was an execution against a man who lived on about the thinnest tract of land and most dilapidated outbuildings to be found even in this almost barren section of country.

When the new deputy came in from his trip, he asked one of the experienced men in the office how to make his returns on the various papers. He was told to write briefly the facts, as he found and understood them, on the back of each one.

On the execution referred to above he wrote as follows:

"No property found to satisfy within execution, and none will be found so long as he stays where he now lives."

BIRDS AND BEASTS HERE FOR GEORGIA STATE FAIR

ANIMALS HAVE ARRIVED.

"I went to the animal fair,
The birds and the beasts they were there,
By the light of the moon
I saw the raccoon
Combing his long gray hair.

"The monkey he got drunk,
And sat on the elephant's trunk,
The elephant sneezed
And fell on his knees,
And that was the last of the monk."

Ravings of Raymond.

Snakes, dogs and ponies, mermaids and devil fish all belonging to the happy family which is to be quartered on the Midway at the Georgia state fair, from October 10 to 16, arrived at Piedmont park yesterday afternoon and last night were busy nature faking and becoming better acquainted.

They were all a part and parcel of the concession baggage and were handled with care.

Two hundred crawling, hissing, lashing pythons, king snakes, rattlers, boa constrictors and garter snakes arrived in one big cage which was iron-bound to prevent escape.

Following soon after was a baggage car fitted out as a palace car stable and kennel, which housed thirty-five sleek Shetland ponies and silken haired poodles, which will form the nucleus for the big dog and pony show which is to be an attractive feature on the Midway.

The devil fish, said to be the only one in captivity, weighing 3,000 pounds, has arrived on a flat car.

This fish was caught on the east coast of Florida early one morning and was not landed on shore until late that evening.

Not in the animal line, but closely allied, is the famous Maier family, known as deep sea divers. In addition to swimming all sorts of fancy strokes, high diving and floating, these near mermaids put on deep sea diving armor and crawl around the bottom of a great tank.

After these had been received, receipted for and located two car loads of race horses arrived and were stabled.

CHEROKEE SUPERIOR COURT

Very Little Business on the Dockets. Dr. Watkins Spoke.

Canton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Cherokee superior court is in session here this week, Judge George F. Gober presiding. There is not a great deal of busness on the docket, and it is quite probable that there will only be three days consumed.

Dr. E. W. Watkins, of Gilmer, candidate for congress from the ninth district, spoke for an hour today to a fairly good sized audience upon the platform he has already enunciated for congress, in opposition to Congressman Bell, whose record he attacked today.

When Gun Powder Was New.

(From The Gentleman's Magazine.)

A curious feature about the evolution in methods of hunting was the hesitation with which gunpowder was taken up by the great nobles. Not only did it take quite a century to familiarize hunters with it, but the evidence that has come down to us shows that the humble classes were the first to use it for shooting game. Maximilian, ardent sportsman that he was, tells us himself that he could shoot farther and with greater accuracy with his crossbow than his keeper could with the fire tube. To prove this he tells us the well-known story of a certain chamois standing at 200 fathoms, which, after being pronounced as too far off by his henchman, who was armed with one of the first sporting firearms mentioned in print, comes tumbling down, pierced at the first attempt by the emperor's bolt. From other sources we learn of strict measures being adopted to prevent poachers and "wood loafers" using firearms, and this at a period when princes still used the cumbrous crossbows and spear. It was only in the last quarter of the sixteenth century that firearms had ousted other weapons for certain forms of the chase, the deer battue being among the latter.

COMER TO CALL EXTRA SESSION

Has Announced That He will Call Legislature Together November 7.

Birmingham, Ala., October 7.—Governor B. B. Comer, who has just returned from the waterways' convention, announced in Birmingham today that the Alabama legislature will be convened in extra session November 7. The official call will be issued in the next few days. The governor has decided not to include statutory prohibition in the subjects to be considered.

"The call will embrace nothing of state importance except further regulation of the railroads," said Governor Comer.

CAN'T WAKE MACON BABY

Little Frances Strozier Went to Sleep at 4 O'Clock Saturday.

Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Francis Strozier, the 4-months-old niece of Henry Strozier, living on Montpielier avenue, went to sleep at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and late this evening was in the same peaceful slumber. The physicians attending believe the child will not wake.

The case is a puzzling one, nothing in its diet being the cause of ithe long sleep. It is believed that concussion of the brain is the cause of the strange illness. Efforts made to awaken the infant have proven fruitless and such medical attention as has been given up to the present has resulted in no satisfactory diagnosis of the case.

We don't deny it—Muse's Boys' Clothes are high-toned.

But wouldn't you rather buy "high-toned clothes from $4.00 to $15.00 than ordinary ones from $4.00 to $15.00?

We say $4.00 because that's as low as we go.

We know that if we went lower than $4, in price, we'd have to go lower in quality, and we have learned, by careful study, that below a certain point quality decreases at a much greater ratio than price.

"BOO-HOO"

Shouts a Spanked Baby.

A Doctor of Divinity, now Editor of a well-known Religious paper, has written regarding the controversy between Collier's Weekly and the Religious Press of the Country and others, including ourselves. Also regarding suits for libel brought by Collier's against us for commenting upon its methods.

These are his sentiments, with some very emphatic words left out.

"The Religious Press owes you a debt of gratitude for your courage in showing up Collier's Weekly as the 'Yell-Oh Man.' Would you care to use the inclosed article on the 'Boo Hoo Baby, as the 'Yell-Oh' Man's successors?"

"A contemporary remarks that Collier's has finally run against a solid hickory 'Post' and been damaged in its own estimation to the tune of $750,000.00.

"Here is a publication which has, in utmost disregard of the facts, spread broadcast, damaging statements about the Religious Press and others and has suffered those false statements to go uncontradicted, until, not satisfied after finding the Religious Press too quiet, and peaceful, to resent the insults in making the mistake of wandering into a fresh field and butts its rattled head against this Post and all the World laughs. Even Christians smile, as the Post suddenly turns and gives it back a dose of its own medicine.

"It is a mistake to say all the World laughs. No cheery laugh comes from Collier's, but it cries and boo hoos like a spanked baby and wants $750,000.00 to soothe its tender, lacerated feelings.

"Thank Heaven it has at last struck a man with 'back bone' enough to call a spade a 'spade' and who believes in telling the whole truth without fear or favor."

Perhaps Collier's, with its "utmost disregard for the facts," may say no such letter exists. Nevertheless it is on file in our office and is only one of a mass of letters and other data, newspaper comments, etc., denouncing the "yellow" methods of Collier's. This volume is so large that a man could not well go thru it under half a day's steady work. The letters come from various parts of America.

Usually a private controversy is not interesting to the public, but this is a public controversy.

Collier's has been using the "yellow" methods to attract attention to itself, but, jumping in the air, cracking heels together and yelling, "Look at me" wouldn't suffice, so it started out on a "Holier Than Thou" attack on the Religious Press and on medicines.

We leave it to the public now, as we did when we first resented Collier's attacks, to say whether in a craving for sensation and circulation, its attacks do not amount to a systematic mercenary hounding. We likewise leave it to the public to say whether Collier's, by its own policy and methods, has not made itself more ridiculous than any comment of ours could make it.

Does Collier's expect to regain any self-inflicted loss of prestige by demonstrating thru suits for damages, that it can be more artful in evading liability for libels than the humble but resentful victims of its defamation, or does it hope by starting a campaign of libel suits to silence the popular indignation, reproach and resentment which it has aroused?

Collier's can not dodge this public controversy by private lawsuits. It can not postpone the public judgment against it. That great jury, the Public, will hardly blame us for not waiting uptil we get a petit jury in a court room before denouncing this prodigal detractor of institutions founded and fostered either by individuals or by the public itself.

No announcements during our entire business career were ever made claiming "medicinal effects" for either Postum or Grape-Nuts. Medicinal effects are results obtained from the use of medicines.

Thousands of visitors go through our entire works each month and see for themselves that Grape-Nuts contains absolutely nothing but wheat, barley and a little salt; Postum absolutely nothing but wheat and about ten per cent of New Orleans molasses. The art of preparing these simple elements in a scientific manner to obtain the best food value and flavor required some work and experience to acquire.

Now, when any publication goes far enough out of its way to attack us because our advertising is "medical," it simply offers a remarkable exhibition of ignorance or worse.

We do claim physiological or bodily results of favorable character following the adoption of our suggestions regarding the discontinuance of coffee and foods which may not be keeping the individual in good health. We have no advice to offer the perfectly healthful person. His or her health is evidence in itself that the beverages and foods used exactly fit that person. Therefore, why change?

But to the man or woman who is ailing, we have something to say as a result of an unusually wide experience in food and the result of proper feeding.

In the palpably ignorant attack on us in Collier's appeared this statement: "One widely circulated paragraph labors to induce the impression that Grape-Nuts will obviate the necessity of an operation in appendicitis. This is lying and potentially deadly lying."

In reply to this exhibition of—well, let the reader name it—the Postum Co., says:

Let it be understood that appendicitis results from long continued disturbance in the intestines, caused primarily by undigested starchy foods, such as white bread, potatoes, rice, partly cooked cereals and such.

Starchy food is not digested in the upper stomach, but passes on into the doudenum, or lower stomach and intestines, where, in a healthy individual, the transformation of the starch into a form of sugar is completed and then the food absorbed by the blood.

But if the powers of digestion are weakened, a part of the starchy food will lie in the warmth and moisture of the body and decay, generating gases and irritating the mucous surfaces until under such conditions the whole lower part of the alimentary canal, including the colon and the appendix, becomes involved. Disease sets up and at times takes the form known as appendicitis.

When the symptoms of the trouble make their appearance, would it not be good, practical, common sense, to discontinue the starchy foods which is causing the trouble and take a food in which the starch has been transformed into a form of sugar in the process of manufacture?

This is identically the same form of sugar found in the human body after starch has been perfectly digested.

Now, human food is made up very largely of starch and is required by the body for energy and warmth. Naturally, therefore, its use should be continued, if possible, and for the reasons given above it is made possible in the manufacture of Grape-Nuts.

In connection with this change of food to bring relief from physical disturbances, we have suggested washing out the intestines to get rid of the immediate cause of the disturbance.

Naturally, there are cases where the disease has lain dormant and the abuse continued too long, until apparently only the knife will avail. But it is a well-established fact among the best physicians who are acquainted with the details above recited, that preventative measures are far and away the best.

Are we to be condemned for suggesting a way to prevent disease by following natural methods and for perfecting a food that contains no "medicine" and produces no "medicinal effects," but which has guided literally thousands of persons from sickness to health? We have received during the years past upwards of 25,000 letters from people who have been either helped or made entirely well by following our suggestions, and they are simple.

If coffee disagrees and causes any of the ailments common to some coffee users quit it and take on Postum.

If white bread, potatoees, rice and other starch foods make trouble, quit and use Grape-Nuts food, which is largely predigested and will digest, nourish and strengthen when other forms of food do not. It's just plain old common sense.

"There's a Reason" for Postum and Grape-Nuts.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

RAISE WANTED BY PREACHERS

Methodist Ministers Demand An Advance In Salaries--Many Quit Pulpit.

Chicago, October 7.—Reports received by The Tribune from ten of the Methodist Episcopal conferences in Illinois and neighboring states show that the question of higher salary for the average minister of that church has reached a crisis. The generally expressed opinion is that religious work soon will suffer for lack of preachers unless salaries are raised. In many of the conferences just held there was an exodus of preachers from the pulpit to enter business life.

The higher salaried movement was discussed and advocated at practically all the conferences.

Salaries have been advanced about $100 each during the last four years, but this increase, which has not kept pace with the cost of living, has failed to stem the ministerial stampede into business life.

HOWARD BLEW OUT BRAINS

At First, However, He Took an Ounce of Laudanum.

Hutsville, Ala., October 7.—Henry Howard, an employee of a shooting gallery of this city city, committeed suicide at New Market Saturday night by swallowing an ounce of laudanum and then blowing out his brains with an old musket. Howard's nephew saw the act and tried to prevent it.

Howard is said to have been drinking heavily.

CANAL FAVORED AT HAZLEHURST

Citizens Give Enthusiastic Support to Proposed Canal To Ocean.

Hazlehurst, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The people of this city are very enthusiastic over the proposed canal connecting the Mississippi river with the Atlantic ocean. Some of the citizens express themselves as follows:

A. J. Herrington, clerk of the court, says of the proposed canal connecting the Mississippi and the Atlanta: "It would not only be a great help to the south, but especially so to our section, as the Ocmulgee passes our very doors, being only 5 miles from our growing town."

Dr. John Hall says he favors the enterprise and will use his influence with our congressman to get an appropriation for the survey.

G. W. Best favors the plan and will do all he can to further it.

H. C. Girtman says he will do all he can to induce our congressman to work for it.

J. J. Frazier says the canal will prove a boon to Georgia, and especially the southern part of the state, which is still undeveloped. "I will urge our congressman to vote for an appropriation for this survey."

W. T. Christopher the real estate man, says: "The Erie canal made New York the richest state in the union, and this great western and Atlantic canal, which will run from the Mississippi to the Altamaha, will enrich beyond computation all the states through which it passes, and I am highly in favor of this great interstate waterway."

T. H. Wetherly says he is strongly in favor of it.

J. W. Hinson, president of the Bank of Hazlehurst, is a strong friend of the project.

John H. Boone, postmaster, says: "I am in favor of the Panama and the great western or any other canal which will benefit our commerce."

Editor Pennington, of The News, says: "I favor such a move and will urge our congressman to ask for such appropriation."

Rowland Cook says: "I will use my influence to have our congressman to vote for this survey."

John F. Hall says it would be a great thing for our immediate section.

HEARING INSTRUMENTS SENT TO KING EDWARD AND HIS QUEEN

New York, October 7.—Three sets of artificial hearing instruments were shipped to Buckingham palace, London, Saturday for the use of King Edward and Queen Alexandra. The latter has long suffered from deafness, but the fact that King Edward is hard of hearing, it is stated, will be a great surprise to the public generally.

The instruments have been made so as to enable the king and queen to talk together without the use of a trumpet or horn. The transmitter, or sound key, will be attached to the clothing of the royal couple. The sounds are focussed on the concentrator in the same manner that the rays of the sun are focussed by means of an ordinary reading glass. At this point of focus is placed a supersensitive microphone, which takes up the magnified sounds and conveys them to the ear by means of a small silk covered tinsel cord, through which an electric current is conveyed by a small battery to an earpiece, which is held to the ear. The batteries are carried in the pocket, being about 3 inches high and 1 1-2 inch in diameter.

TRIED TO WORK GREEK GAME

Why Jim Perantus, a Young Greek, Was Called Down.

"Now, look here," said Recorder Broyles to Jim Perantus, a young Greek, who was arraigned in the police court yesterday morning for buying a stolen watch, "now, look here, you can't work any Greek game on me."

Perantus had been contending that while he bought the stolen watch he had not bought any chain. To prove this he called up upon another Greek present to testify. The Greek witness could not speak English, and Perantus thereupon acted as court interpreter. Perantus began to tell the recorder what the witness was saying, which, of course, was all in Perantus' favor. This made the recorder remark that no Greek game could be worked on him.

"You, see," stated Perantus, in broken English, "the witness no speak the English, so I tell him just what to say."

Ed Freeman, the negro boy who had stolen the watch, was ordered whipped, and Perantus was allowed to go with a lecture.

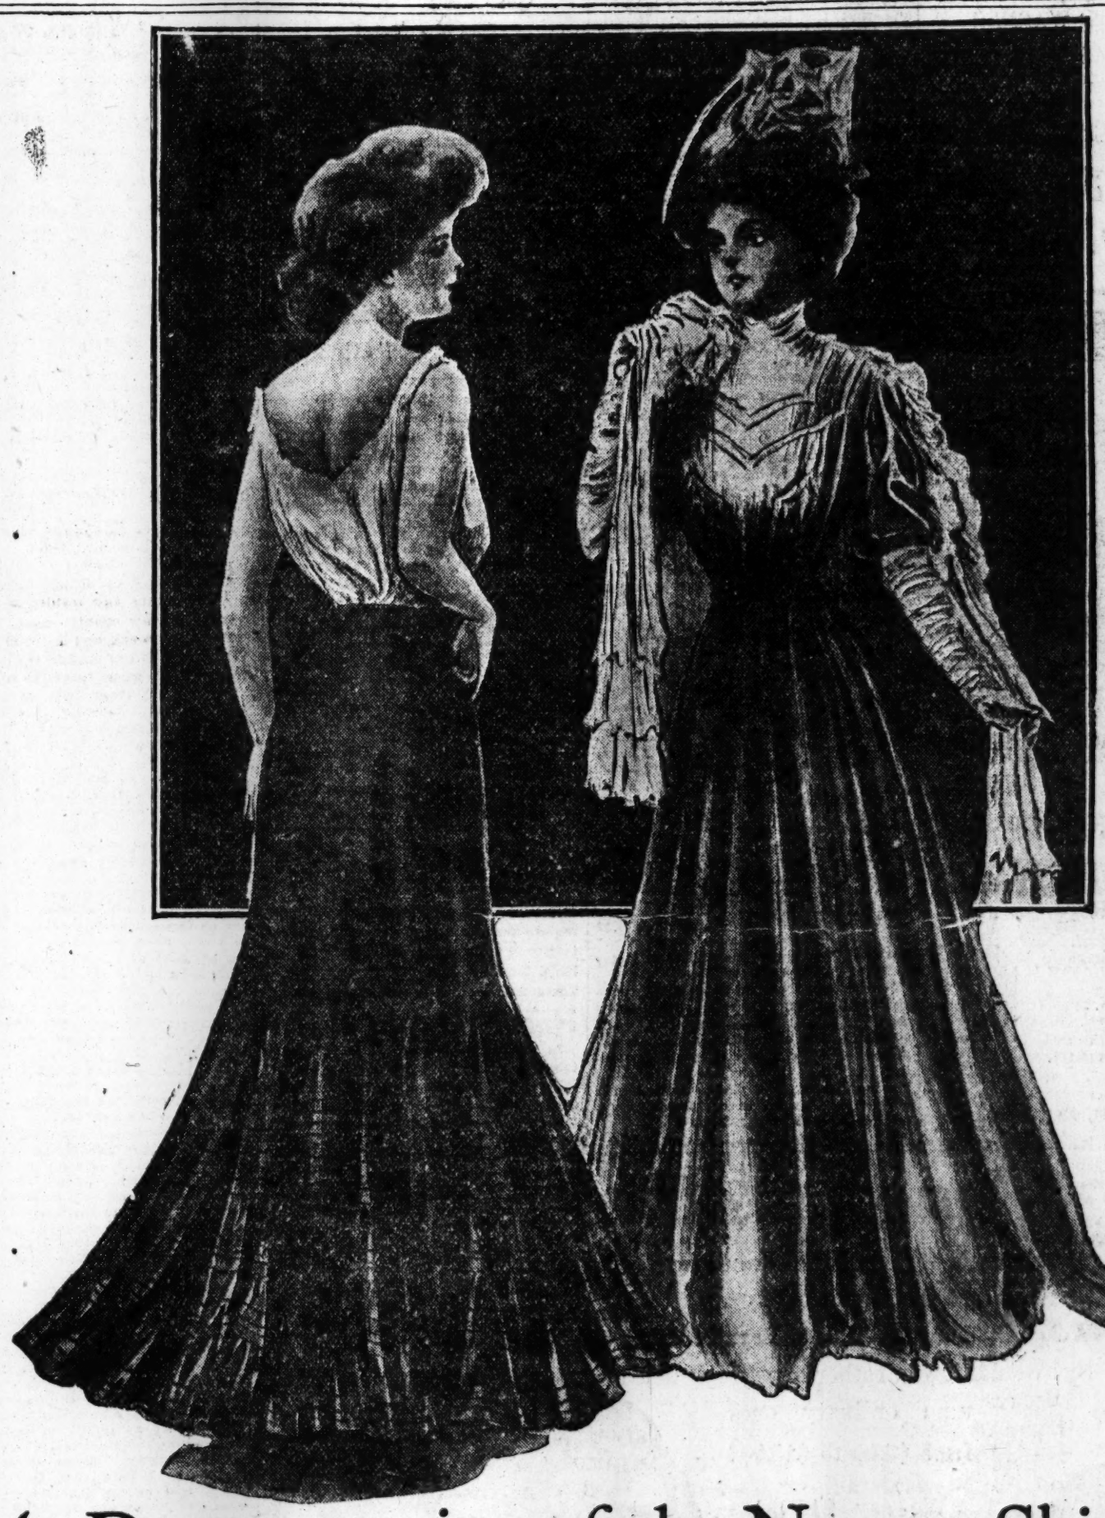

PAY WATER BILLS SATURDAY

Time Has Been Extended Two Days Because of Big Rush at the City Hall.

The time for paying water bills has been extended this month. On the 10th and 11th the water office will be closed until Saturday, October 12. The reason for giving this extra two days after the 10th of the month is because there is a great rush at the city hall to pay taxes and city licenses.

Yesterday morning the first floor was crowded and the clerks could hardly wait upon those who had money to pay. This crowded condition will continue for the next two or three days.

The usual discount on water bills will, said as late as Saturday afternoon.

A Demonstration of the Novent Skirts

A demonstration of a Petticoat is indeed an innovation—an out-of-the-ordinary demonstration, but in the "Novent" there's something to show and advantages gained.

It's the Petticoat best suited to the prevailing modes, for the Petticoat is the foundation of the gown. If the effect is to be satisfactory, the Petticoat must fit perfectly about the hips and must hang gracefully from hips to hem.

You all know the caprices of the ordinary Petticoat—bulging and adding bulk where least desirable.

The unbiased opinion of many of New York's most fashionable dressmakers is, that the "Novent" is the only Petticoat producing a small waist, a tapering and unbroken line from waist to foot.

Not a gather, or vent, or button, or hooks and eyes.

Glove-fitting Jersey top. Elastic waistband. Produces new bell-shaped figure. Encircled at the base by a deep flaring flounce, in a profusion of new styles.

All these points our demonstrator wants to show you.

The price range of "Novent" skirts is $2 to $8.50—$2, $2.50, $3, $5, $7.50 and $8.50.

Made with flounces of mercerized French sateen or Taffeta silk.

At $5, $7.50 and $8.50 the flounces are silk and the top silk Jersey.

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF MALARIA

When the germs of Malaria get into the blood they destroy the rich, nutritive qualities of this vital fluid and reduce it to such a weak, watery condition that it is unable to furnish the system with the nourishment and strength necessary to keep it robust and healthy. The complexion grows pale and sallow, the appetite fails, digestion is deranged, a bilious condition of the system is set up, and often chills and fever make life miserable for the person in whose blood this insidious poison has taken root. There is but one way to rid the system of Malaria and that is to purify the blood of the germs of the disease, and S. S. S. is the remedy to accomplish this. It goes down into the circulation, destroys the germs, purifies and strengthens the weak, watery blood, making it a rich health-giving and health-sustaining stream, and makes a lasting cure of Malaria. Malarial persons will find S. S. S. not only a prompt remedy but a pleasant acting one, as well as certain cure for this debililitating disease. Besides removing the cause of Malaria S. S. S. builds up every part of the system by its fine tonic effects. Book on the blood containing information about Malaria, and any medical advice desired free to all who write.

BOILERMAKERS COME FOR 1907 CONVENTION

W. H. S. BALEMAN, Chicago, Secretary Associate Members.

J. DON SMITH, Second Vice-President, Charleston.

Car Ride and Theatre Party Planned for the Delegates—Boilermaker Badges Numerous in Atlanta.

Reception rooms for delegates to the nineteenth annual convention of the American Boiler Manufacturers' Association of the United States and Canada opened by the home committee on reception and arrangements Sunday at the Piedmont hotel, sixth floor, Luckie and Forsyth streets, presented a busy scene during the day as the visitors came in.

On the Piedmont hotel bulletin board a card had been placed advising the delegates and other visitors that a registry book was in the reading room, right off the office. At the boiler manufacturer register was found a secretary of the association thoroughly posted on the city.

The members of the committee on reception, Frank Harrison, chairman, had been in attendance throughout the day, and had done much to help along the work. The members of that reception committee are, in addition to Frank Harrison, chairman: E. M. Cole, V. A. Moore, N. H. L. Nelms, J. M. VanHarlingen, C. N. Daniels, W. M. Francis, R. P. Decker, Horace Parker, F. A. Dillworth, A. Jones, C. P. King, S. J. McGarry, and others. Along with these names were presented a ladies' reception committee, the membership being: Mrs. Adam Jones, chairman; Miss Christine Cole, Newnan; Mrs. M. J. Wiedner, Chattanooga; Mrs. Edwin Stewart, Atlanta; Mrs. A. R. Merrill, Jacksonville; Mrs. N. H. L. Nelms, Atlanta; Miss Ruth Cole, Newnan; Mrs. Don Smith, Charleston; Mrs. S. A. Folson, Augusta; Miss Bourke, Savannah; Mrs. E. M. Cole, Newnan; Mrs. A. D. Schofield, Macon; Mrs. S. J. McGary, Atlanta; Mrs. J. M. Van Harlinger, Atlanta; Mrs. C. P. King, Atlanta; Mrs. W. M. Francis, Atlanta; Miss Louise Van Harlingen, Atlanta; Mrs. Victor A. Moore, Atlanta.

BOILER MAKERS ARRIVE.

Convention opens at 10 o'clock, Piedmont assembly hall.

Hon. M. F. Cole, of Georgia, president, will deliver the annual address.

W. H. S. Bateman, of Chicago, and E. D. Meyer, of Philadelphia, will answer Georgia welcome.

In the afternoon a car ride about the city.

In the evening a theater party at Grand, ladies and gentlemen being recognized guests of the local organization.

President Cole Arrives.

President Cole, who came up from Newnan on an early morning train, was given a sincere greetings by the delegates.

Boiler Manufacturers' Association badges were numerous about the hotels and upon the streets during the afternoon and evening.

Delegates to the association continued to arrive during the afternoon and the evening, and when President Cole drops his gavel this morning, in the Piedmont assembly hall, he will find more than the anticipated two hundred delegates.

So far nothing like an official program of the assembly's three days' work has been given out. The committee has been working on that feature, and will probably be ready to make an official announcement this morning, even before President Cole calls the body to order.

The officers of the national organization are:

President, M. F. Cole, Newnan, Ga.

Secretary, J. D. Farasey, Cleveland, Ohio.

Treasurer, Joseph F. Wangler, St. Louis, Mo.

First vice president, John J. Hain, Toronto, Canada.

Second vice president, J. Don Smith, Charleston, S. C.

Third vice president, William H. Fletcher, Hoboken, N. J.

Fourth vice president, H. D. MacKinnon, Bay City, Mich.

Fifth vice president, H. Goldner, Philadelphia, Pa.

ALABAMAN 100 YEARS OLD

Uncle Charles Sheppard Has a Son 75 Years Old.

Eufaula, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—Old Uncle Charles Sheppard, who until a few years ago resided near Blue Springs, in this county, came up from Dothan last week and enjoyed a celebration of his one hundredth anniversary in a birthday dinner at the home of his brother, Henry Sheppard, of the former place. The old gentleman is quite feeble and his eyes are so dimmed that he is only able to discern objects, yet he is hale and hearty and chats pleasantly with his friends. He is also able to journey about his premises unaided and has promise of other anniversaries.

Mr. Sheppard fought through two wars and although beyond the age limit at the time of the civil war, he volunteered and bore the reputation of a brave and fearless soldier. He has a living son seventy-five years old.

JURY TOLD TO INVESTIGATE

Judge Wants Them to Probe the Charges of Election Fraud.

Huntsville, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—Judge Tancred Betts, in his charge to the grand jury, in the law and equity court today directed the jury to investigate the charge of fraud in the city election of last April and find indictments against guilty parties if possible. He also charged the jury to investigate the alleged violation of the liquor dispensary laws by the clubs of this city. Judge Betts says he has no doubt that these laws are being violated and he thinks a speedy end should be put to such violation. The jury was also directed to break up gambling in Huntsville if possible.

Young Booker Quit School Rather Than Submit to to Discipline.

Exeter, N. H., October 7.—With reference to the published report that Booker T. Washington, Jr., son of the colored educator, and J. E. Gomez, son of the Cuban general, had been forced to leave Phillips Exeter Academy on account of race prejudice, Dr. Harlan P. Amen, principal of the academy, in a statement today denied the story and said that Washington voluntarily left school rather than submit to discipline. Gomez, who was Washington's roommate, also left voluntarily, it is believed, because he took offense at a rebuke by one of the teachers.

Montgomery, Ala., October 7.—A Boston report that Booker T. Washington, Jr., son of the head of the Tuskegee Institute, had disappeared mysteriously from school in Boston is without foundation. His father said yesterday that he was in New York on a business trip with his consent, and would be back at his books in a couple of days.

SMALL IN FULL CONTROL

He Will Conduct Strike of Telegraphers From New York.

New York, October 7.—Deputy National President Percy Thomas, of the Telegraphers' union, today resigned his position, and National President Small announced that he would make his headquarters here and conduct the strike for the telegraphers of this city. The headquarters of the strikers were thronged today with strikers discussing Mr. Thomas' resignation, which was reported to have resulted from the action of President Small at the strikers' meeting yesterday in declining to indorse the local union in its move to call out all leased wire operators whether under contract or not. On this point Daniel Russell said:

"The office of deputy national president was created so that President Small could have an acting deputy here during his absence in the west. Now that President Small is here, Mr. Thomas resigned, and the office he held has ceased to exist."

SPOONER ACTS FOR CENTRAL

Former Senator Held Conference with Central Officials.

Former Senator John C. Spooner, of Wisconsin, for nearly a quarter of a century one of the leading members of the United States senate, is in Atlanta. Senator Spooner came to the city to act in a legal capacity for the Central of Georgia in its fight in the federal court to prevent the enforcement of order 334, of the railroad commission, which reduces the passenger rates in this state.

Senator Spooner has now retired from politics. Retired for good, he says.

It was only a few months ago that the whole country was ringing with Spooner's name and his case—that of a man who found holding political office too expensive a thing for a poor man—was variously commented on as an illustration of the necessity for better compensating men in public life. During all the years Senator Spooner served in the senate he did it at a personal financial sacrifice, and he presented the rather remarkable case of a man near of three2 score years leaving his native state to go to New York, begin anew and carve out for himself a fortune.

Senator Spooner, while known all over the country as a great constitutional lawyer and a strenuous debater in the senate, had little personal acquaintance in New York city. However, he is now building up a magnificent practice, and doing what he did not have time to do while in the senate—making a fortune.

Senator Spooner spent most of yesterday in consultation with officials and attorneys of the Central. He refused to talk of politics or to make any political prognostications.

"I am out of politics for all time," was his reply to questions.

In the afternoon he took a drive over the city in company with friends, and expressed himself as delighted with Atlanta.

RECTOR READS HIS OWN NOVEL TO EDIFY HIS CONGREGATION

New York, October 7.—To his congregation in St. Stephen's Epispocal church, Totensville, Staten island the Rev. Guy R. Jamison, rector, read the first instalment of his novel, "Captain Jacklyn's Club," last night. He read ten typewritten pages in half an hour. At the moment when he had his audience deeply interested and at a climax in the story the clergyman ceased to read, and said: "That is all for this evening."

The Rev. Mr. Jamison will continue the reading of his novel every Sunday evening during the first three months. He hopes by diversifying the service to draw larger congregations and to point to them a good moral. His novel, written with this purpose, teaches temperance in strong drink and urges the extermination of the saloon.

Daniel Water For the Stomach

Daniel Mineral Water acts gently upon the Liver, keeps the digestion healthy, and thus lessens the danger of malarial and other fevers. The mineral ingredients it contains keep the Stomach toned up and the Kidneys flushed, thereby safely overcoming or entirely avoiding the diseases peculiar to the sickly summer season.

For Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, and all Stomach, Bladder or Intestinal troubles, Daniel Water is far superior to any on the market. It is an alkaline—not a salt or sulphur water. Is pleasant, palatable and light, and its good effects upon the general health are noticeable from the beginning of its use.

If you are in doubt about the water you are drinking and want an absolutely pure spring water, order a case of Daniel Water and avoid all danger of taking into your system the germs of Typhoid and other dangerous fevers.

S. C. A. EXECUTIVE BOARD TAKES IMPORTANT STEP

President Harvie Jordan, of the Southern Cotton Association, announced last night at the conclusion of a meeting of the executive board of the organization, the adoption of a new constitution and by-laws, which authorizes the grating of charters for the purpose of placing the association in a better position for the ends sought to be gained.

While reticent as to the details, he explained that by the adoption of a new constsitution there is permissible improvements in methods of warehousing, baling, and financing the annual cotton crop in the hands of the growers.

He declared that the new constsitution was laargely educational, and was the result of long consideration and repeated conference and not the result of the big cotton conference now in session.

PLEASE LET US GO BACK TO OUR CINCINNATI HOME

Tired, trembling, and in trouble, three little actresses appealed to Attorney Marvern Hill yesterday afternoon to "please, sir, get our trunks away from the Star theater, for we want to go back to Cincinnati."

According to the statement made to the attorney, they are Marie Zeigler, Grace Woolums and Anna Rhode, who made a contract with a representative of the Star management, in Cincinnati, to come to Atlanta and do an act at the Star theater.

Monday they arrived at the theater, looked it over, and Monday afternoon refused to go "on" for their turn.

The management of the theater had advanced enough money to the trio to pay their fares to Atlanta, and he wanted either their services or the money in return.

Failing to get either an attachment for their trunks was taken out before Judge Kingsbery, and their complaints will probably be aired before that tribunal on today.

PREACHERS SEEK REFORMS IN CONDUCTING FUNERALS

Savannah, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The Savannah Ministerial Association held a meeting today, and advocated the adoption of certain reforms in the conduct of funerals. The undertakers, it is said, are in hearty accord with the object of the resolutions.

It is advised that Sunday funerals be abolished, except in emergencies. Dignity and simplicity should mark funerals, and there should be no undue display or ostentation.

The family and nearest friends, say the resolutions, should be conducted from the grave before the earth is thrown into it, thus avoiding heartrending scenes.

Awnings should be provided by the cemeteries for protection against heat and rain.

EGYPTIAN BALE RECOMMENDED

and even advocated stamping the name and address of the producer and ginner on the bale in order that the purchaser might know on whom to lay the blame for trouble.

It was recommended that cotton be held for thirty days before being ginned, to insure a greater absence of moisture and more uniformity in the length of the staple.

Uniform Classification.

H. W. Macalister, chairman of the committee on uniform classification, is a member of the Master Cotton Spinners' Association, as is John Smethurst, secretary of the committee.

After exhaustive discussion of this subject, the following resolution was adopted:

"After considering the uniform classification of American cotton, this committee is unanimously of the opinion that standard types should be adopted either by the United States government, or by an association of delegates from the cotton exchanges, cotton growers and cotton spinners, and that classification should be made upon grade and color alone and not upon staple."

After considering the question of contracts on cotton exchanges, this committee is unanimously of the opinion that:

"1. Standard contracts of 50,000 pounds should be adopted instead of 100 net weight.

"2. That net weight tenderable shall not exceed 1 per cent above or below standard weight contracted for.

"3. That actual tare, canvas, and bands (bagging and ties in America) be allowed.

Too Much Moisture.

"Since the excessive amount of dampness in American cotton and the inadequate allowance for same under existing cotton exchange rules are of serious importance to spinners, this committee is of the opinion that steps should be taken by the various associations here represented, with the view of remedying the evil of excessive damp and place the question of claims, as adjusted under the present rules of the exchanges, on a more equitable basis.

Extend Warehouse Plan.

The section devoted to discussing closer relatioship between the producer and manufacturer was presided over by R. H. Jackson, of Manchester, as chairman. H. P. Hudson, of the Farmers' Union, was vice chairman.

In the vigorous discussion, which marked this meting, T. J. Brooks, E. A. Calvin and R. H. Jackson took active part. Finally the following resolution, drafted by Herr Kuffler and Mr. Brooks, was agreed to:

"Be it resolved, That the international convention of cotton growers and manufacturers is of the opinion that by closer trade relations between grower and spinner, a great deal of the present expense in handling cotton can be saved and the evils attendant on violent fluctuations of the market be mitigated.

"We are further of the opinion that the extension of the warehouse system in the southern states and the creation of selling offices abroad will tend to bring about closer trade relations, and are, therefore, worthy of encouragement by both producer and spinner."

Stability of Price.

The section to which was referred the questions of buying and selling cotton, spent a busy afternoon discussing equitable tare, plans for buying at net weight, and ways and means o secure stability in price.

Objection was made to the proposal of compressing at the gin, for the reason, as one foreign spinner stated, that the spinner wanted to see what he was buying, and wanted to have the opportunity of inspecting the bale.

State President R. F. Duckworth, of the Farmers' Union, explained that the union was prepared to put its guarantee behind bales sent out from union warehouses, and could trace the identity of each bale from the producer to the spinner.

Burlap was advocated as being preferable to jute bagging, because it will stand the hook better. There was considerable discussion as to what was a reasonable amount of tare. One spinner argued there should not be over 24 pounds of tare per bale, whereas sometimes there was actually 40 pounds. Another thought that 6 per cent for tare was too much

The resolution of Mr. Hfiin to curb cotton exchange gambling produced a spirited discussion, in which three delegates representing American cotton exchanges participated. They argued there was no earthly possibility of insuring a stability of price in any raw product unless it could be absolutely controlled by a trust, as is the Standard Oil, for instance.

William Dodd, of England, announced the British parliament had been similarly memorialized; had caused the Liverpool cotton exchange to be investigated, and, on the report of the committee, refused to disturb the present system; "and," he added, "will not do so."

B. H. Simmons, announcing himself a farmer from North Carolina, and to the surprise of farmers present, declared opposition to the resolution. Mark H. Thomas, of Dallas, Tex., said to be interested in brokerage houses, made a vigorous speech from the standpoint of a manufacturer, also in opposition.

This discussion was participated in by Herr Waibel, of Germany; Mr. Buysee, of Belgium; Messrs. Howard, and a representative of R. T. Wilson & Co.; Chairman Welch; Mr. Duckworth; Mr. Griffin; Mr. Simmons, of Statesboro, Ga.; Mr. Thornton, of Alabama; Martin, of Texas, and Heflin, of Alabama.

One speaker declared that if cotton exchanges were run out of America and Great Britain, they would flourish in Berlin and Paris. That only international consent could wipe out cotton speculation.

A subcommittee was charged to take under consideration the various proposals, and particularly the resolution concerning cotton exchanges, and make its report Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The committee on reports and statistics will also complete its report tomorrow.

T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the committee on cotton growing and handling, introduced a resolution endorsing the work of the bureau of biology of the United States department of agriculture. Among other things, this bureau has discovered, by investigations, that several variety of non-game birds are valuable agents in fighting the spread of the Mexican cotton boll weevil. The resolution petitions congress to make further appropriations for carrying on the work of this bureau. Mr. Pearson is secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies.

Piles Quickly Cured at Home

Instant Relief, Permanent Cure—Trial Package Mailed Free to All in Plain Wrapper.

Half of the suffering and torture of piles has never been told. But no matter. Here, for instance, is a sample of the kind of letters we get every day and we don't have to ask for them:

"Friend, I write to tell what good your Pyramid Pile Cure has done for me. I used your sample, and it did me so much good I went and got two boxes, and I used one and I am another man altogether. I have no pain, no piles, and I have been troubled with them for over 50 years, and could find no relief till now, thanks to your timely cure. Use my name if it will do you any good. Isaac Smith, Wharton, New York."

For Free Sample send to the Pyramid Drug Co., 96 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Mich., or you can buy Pyramid Pile Cure in any drug store for 50 cents a box.

THEATERS.

At the Grand.

"The Bell Boy," portrayed by Johnny Galvin, occupied the boards at the Grand last evening, and at times the bell fairly chimed, but—at times it barely tinkled.

The incentive—that is the crowd—was not great, probably owing to the fact that Buffalo Bill was here. The bass drum man earned his salary emphasizing falls and whacks in the initial act, but the performance waxed stronger as it aged.

The Galvins were the entire performance—with the exception of some mighty pretty scenic effects. Johnny Galvin and Ella Galvin are laughable in their comedy sketch which takes place during the course of the second act. The prices are bargain prices and the entertainment furnishes reimbursement for the expenditure.

A word must be said in regard to the clog dance act by Ingle and Hanley. Their act is good.

J. C. HARRIS.

At the Bijou.

They have something good at the Bijou this week in "The Awakening of Mr. Phipp," which has as its centerpiece, Charley Grapewin, surrounded by an excellent company, including the bucking broncos, who add to the interest of the clever piece with some charming terpsichorean numbers. The same play with the same stars has been to Atlanta before, but a second reading does not take away any of the pleasant remembrances of the former presentation. It's a case of meeting old friends and the maxim, "old friends are best," holds good in this case. There have been some few changes in the cast, but they have not hurt the old company; instead, have made it better and now Mr. Grapewin has support that would be hard to excel.

He is too well known for somment. All the good things that have been said about him are still true. His play deals with a period of a year on the water wagon, a fall and then a regaining of the seat and through it all his work is so true to life that one would think everything real.

While the three acts are all good, the cafe scene is the best, and it is here that Grapewin renders the cleverest of his musical numbers, "You'll be Sorry in the Morning." Another one of his is catchy, "The Old Oaken Bucket." Miss Chance, who plays with Mr. Grapewin, is still attractive in her lines. In fact the whole company is above par.

A. W. LYNN.

At the Orpheum.

Although there were many attractions in the city last evening, including Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, and the weather was inclement enough to turn the most ardent theatergoer into a homelover, the Orpheum drew a large crowd for the opening performance of the week.

More to the point, however, the bill put on pleased. The feature of the performance was the Howard Ponies and Dogs, booked as the headline animal act in vaudville. The ponies and dogs made good with a rush.

Next in interest was the team of Frank McRae and Roy Poole in fancy shooting stunts, McRae using the rifle and Poole posing as the target.

Combes and Stone presented a one-act play. Golerth and Doyle appeared in a comedy skit with some old songs. Alexas and Schall pleased in a contortion act.

"The Umpire."

"The Umpire," which comes to the Grand Wednesday and Thursday, is of the new school of musical comedy, which is to say that instead of the usual bibulous old king of a mythical island played by the usual dialect comedian, its principal person is a highly human baseball umpire, and its story is a modern recital of the humorous adventures that might befall him. The authors have succeeded in blending a dramatic plot with a rich mixture of fun and music and girls, so that one may be interested in the outcome of the tale while being diverted with pretty tunes, pretty women, and comedy.

A matinee is announced for Thursday afternoon.

At the South Side.

The second week of the South Side theater at 44 East Hunter street was ushered in yesterday afternoon and last night with a pleasing program which delighted the large and enthusiastic audiences present. Harrison, West and Harrison team, presenting Master Harrison, the toy comedian in "Buster Brown," proved one of the hits of the bill. Adams and Adams in the nerve-thrilling knife throwing act proved a strong second and Harvey and Adams in their barrel jumping and hand balancing act pleased also.

At the Pastime.

Large and pleased audiences left the Pastime theater on Peachtree street yesterday afternoon and last night following the performances in which the week's new program was offered. The Musical Doyles open the bill with a great act in which they hammer harmony out of every sort of instrument. Carl and Carl, the comedian and comedienne, offered a novel and original sketch which set the audience to laughing.

Funeral services of Edward Oscar McClelland were held at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McClelland, 116 Love street, yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Interment was in Westview cemetery.

Helen Linch.

Helen Ruth Linch, aged 18 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Linch, 5 Mays street, died yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the family home. The funeral services will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Greenberg, Bond & Bloodfield chapel. Interment in Oakland cemetery.

N. L. W. Parris.

L. W. Parris, aged 45 years, died at a late hour Sunday night at the family home in the western part of the city from spinal trouble of a long and painful duration. He leaves a wife and one daughter. The body is now at Greenberg, Bond & Bloomfield's and will be sent to Meansville, this state, for burial.

W. C. Currie.

W. C. Currie, of Aberdeen, N. C., died last night at a private sanitarium in Atlanta, where he had been under treatment for a week or ten days. He was 56 years of age. A son will reach Atlanta tonight from Aberdeen to take charge of the body.

COTTON TALKED BY SPINNERS

ed all the English-speaking delegates sang the same tune but used the words of their own hymn.

In the corridors of the capitol were many bales of cotton, representing the different types of baling and covering the staple.

After the appointment of a committee, consisting of two members from each of the organizations calling the congress, to nominate permanent officers and the chairmen and vice chairmen o the various sectional committee meetings, the chairman of the congress introduced Governor Hoke Smith to welcome the visitors to Georgia.

Governor Smith assured the visitors that "we are glad to have you with us and will like you better the longer you stay."

President Macara's Address.

Charles Wright Macara, president of the international association, in the course of his response, told the delegates that he believed the foreign spinners, by joining with the spinners and manufacturers of cotton in America and holding out the right hand of fellowship to the cotton grower, would be able to render a vast service to the cotton industry. He declared there was need in the cotton business for legitimate middle men, but showed the necessity of eliminating the gambling element on the cotton exchanges. He said only by international organization could the interests of this world-wide industry be safeguarded and the producer and manufacturer protected from the manipulations of outsde parties. He said:

"Since the raising or lowering of the annual price by only one cent represents a difference of 18,000,000 pounds, or $90,000,000, it is impossible to imagine any more important work in which grower and spinner could join. Gambling in cotton futures is inimical to the interests of both."

Mr. Macara said that cotton was largely sold in the poorer countries and that seven or eight million people in India and China were not able to buy goods when the price was unreasonably high. He believes that the saving to be accomplished by getting rid of outside monopolies, would make possible great economy in the manufacture and handling of cotton and yield larger returns to both producer and consumer.

"The price of cotton should not be reduced to a level that will reduce the profit of the grower beyond a reasonable limit. It will be advisable for us in years of plenty to lay aside for years of partial failure." He continued: "It was my painul duty in 1904 to lead a movement to reduce the hours of labor in our mills from 55 1-2 to 40 per week. That was carried on for twelve months. Our production was curtailed, but we saved national disaster of the first magnitude. Had we not taken that step, by the first of May there would not have been a bale of American cotton available for the mills of England. This action was made necessary by speculation which had raised the price of cotton to a prohibitive figure."

Urges Greater Cotton Production.

Noting that the representatives of the cotton growers present did not beam their approval of this plan, Mr. Macara continued:

"You will pardon me if I take a slightly different view from the one you take. We must have a great increase in the production of cotton wherever it is grown. Ths is the best part of the world to grow cotton, but we must have sufficient cotton."

The address of welcome on behalf of the city of Atlanta was delivered by Mayor W. R. Joyner, who presented to Chairman McColl a mammoth wooden key which the mayor guaranteed would open the front door as well as the back door of any building in Atlanta. He notified the visitors that some retail business houses in Atlanta closed at 10 o'clock, but that no good German, or Britisher either, would be permitted to perish. The mayor said:

"Nothing that I can do or say will convey to you how glad we are to have you with us. We have been expecting you a long time. Now that you are here, we will try to make you have a good time, so you will feel like coming again. We would like to keep you with us, but if we cannot do that, we are going to make good Atlantans of you while you are here."

When the mayor had presented his magic key the band played "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and Chairman McColl thought it very appropriate.

Herr Kuffler Mesmerizes Congress.

Herr Kuffler, of Vienna, president of the international congress, which met in Vienna last year, captured the convention from the moment he opened his rapid fire battery. Herr Kuffler did not tell the southern cotton growers anything they could use at the next meeting of their Farmers' Union lodges, but what he did tell them pleased them immensely. In acknowledging Mayor Joyner's greeting, he said:

"It gives me great pleasure to thank, on behalf of the European delegates, the mayor of Atlanta for the kind words he has spoken to us. I think if the doors of Atlanta and the locks of Atlanta are so big that you must use so huge a key, you must have many valuable things to lock up. I must assure you, gentlemen, that we all feel very glad to have witnessed the prosperity of the city of Atlanta, which, according to our views, is quite a new city. It compares favorably with the oldest cities of the world.

"We are glad to note your prosperity. We gather from this that the prices you receive from your products are very fair."

This hit was greeted with enthusiastic applause, which punctured each of his later sentences.

"We hope this prosperity will last. It is only fair that prosperity shall also continue to reign on our side of the water. Prosperity in one section must not be built up at the expense of prosperity in another section. We want to understand each other. We do not want to deceive each other. We are in your city to hear what you have to say and we will, in turn, tell you what we think of it.

"The buyer and seller should have a voice in fixing the price. I was glad to haer the speaker say that, for I heard yesterday that the price had already been fixed at 15 cents."

Judged by the applause, Herr Kuffler had made a hit, a most palpable hit.

Continuing, the distinguished Austrian: "I enjoyed the mayor's speech. Mayor Joyner said that we could have everything in Atlanta we wanted. The governor said we could have everything in the southif we only paid a fair price for it. (Applause.) We will pay the price if we have to, but we would prefer to accept the mayor's invitation. (Applause.)

"This is the greatest opportunity we have ever had to consider both sides of this question. It is not only unique in the history of the cotton trade, but it is unique in the business records of the world."

Willie Pope Makes Hit.

J. Willie Pope, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the commercial bodies of the city. He spoke of the importance of the cotton industry in the south and felicitated the visitors on having come when the cotton fields were in full fruit. He reviewed briefly the history of cotton growing in the world, and said this little plant furnished a fabric that was worn from the cradle to the grave, from the tropics to the Arctic seas, from Kalamazoo to Kingdom Come, and from the dawn of history to the judgment day."

William Hartshorne, of Lawrence, Mass., replied to the address of Mr. Pope in an appropriate manner.

F. H. Hyatt, of Columbia, S. C., presented to President Macara a sample of cotton bolls grown on his farm, which contained 10 and 12 locks, having been developed by hybridization from cotton with four locks. He cited this as proof of the possibility of increasing the yield of cotton through proper culture.

Officers of the Congress.

Herr Kuffler, of Austria, submitted the report of the committee on organization. The following were the recommendations regarding officers:

That James R. MacColl, of Pawtucket, R. I., be elected president, together with the following vice presidents and secretaries: Vice presidents, Harvie Jordan, of Atlanta; W. D. Hartshorne, Lawrence, Mass.; C. W. Macara, Manchester, England; S. B. Tanner, Charlotte, N. C.; C. S. Barrett, Atwater, Ga.

Secretaries—Arno Schmidt, Manchester, England; Dr. Will H. Woods, Natchez, Miss.; C. J. H. Woodbury, Boston; R. H. McCullough, Arkansas; C. B. Bryant.

One vice president of the congress was selected from each of the organizations which compose it. The president of each being chosen a vice president of the congress. Mr. MaColl, not being an officer of any of the associations, was chosen president of the congress.

Of course, the officers of the International Congress of Master Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association were not selected yesterday. This association is composed of the spinners of England and the continent of Europe. Japan is also a member, having recently joined. The American mills are not members of the international association.

The committee on organization further recommended that no speaker be allowed to speak more than ten minutes on any subject, except by unanimous consent, nor could he speak the second time to the same subject.

The officers nominated were unanimously elected, and the committee's report adopted.

Closer Trade Relations.

At this juncture President Harvie Jordan, of the Southern Cotton Association, moved that the subject of "Closer Trade Relations Between Grower and Spinner" be discussed in a sectional meeting.

Herr Kuffler opposed the suggestion, in order that all the delegates present might have the hour that intervened before adjournment in which to discuss the topic.

Charles B. Metcalf, of San Angelo, Tex., vice president of the Texas division, Southern Cotton Association, told the delegates he was a farmer and represented farmers. He said he wanted to see the grower and spinner get together, so that every man who had an honest hand in dealing in cotton might make a living. He said the farmer was only asking pay at the rate of $1 a day for growing cotton when he offered this year's crop at 15 cents a pound.

C. E. Harvey, of Summerville, Ga., told the spinners the farmers did not wish to ask an excessive price for their crop, but wanted a price that both could live at.

C. S. Barrett suggested that each speaker on arising announce the organization he represented.

J. Thomas Heflin, representative in congress from the fifth Alabama district, made an eloquent appeal for the adoption of a resolution calling upon the congress of the United States and the parliament of Great Britain to undertake the reorganization of the cotton exchanges in the two countries and eliminate gambling.

Hon. J. L. Lee, of Coweta county, suggested that the spinners be heard from, so the discussion might be more general.

Exchanges Should Handle Cotton.

D. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte, N. C., spoke from the standpoint of a spinner. He referred to the three branches of the cotton trade; production of cotton, commerce of cotton, and the manufacture of cotton. If the parties interested in any of the three branches should disagree with the other two, it will be like the old story of the human stomach and the various members of the body. "We should all devote attention to correcting abuses in each of these three branches. When you have eliminated the evils in each, I believe the price will regulate itself to the advantage of all concerned. I believe the cotton exchanges should handle cotton and not chips. I believe the gamblers should be put out, even if it is necessary to abolish the exchanges and reorganize all over. Exchanges are needed, for it is a mistake to suppose that the producer can sell directly to the spinner."

Mr. Thompson declared that a few yers go the farmers thought the cotton spinners were opposed to the interests of the producer. He said that for the future all sides would prefer a fair, stable and equitable price to the fluctuating prices that have rules in the past. He said:

"If the farmer will go into the business of warehousing by which cotton can be sold in Bremen or Liverpool on grade, he will be advancing the interests of grower, merchant and mnufacturer."

Mr. J. B. Tattersa of Manachcester, England, made a most interesting address favoring closer relations between the grower nd manufacturer. He declared if the southern cotton associations would maintain agents in Europe who could close contracts for the delivery of cotton from southern warehouses, the European spinners would prefer to deal with these representtives of the growers and thus cut out the profit to the middle men on the exchanges.

At 1 o'clock the congress adjourned to meet in the hall of the house this morning at 9 o'clock.

Program for Wednesday.

The program for tomorrow is as follows:

10 a. m.—Reports of sectional committees and discussions of topics submitted at both morning and afternoon sessions.

3 p. m.—Automobile ride to points of interest, including the cotton mills, for delegates who wish to accept the invitation.

SOUTH CAROLINA AND ENGLAND

SEA ISLAND GROWERS HERE FOR CONVENTION

Among the most interested of those attending the conference of cotton growers and spinners are a group of Florida planters, who grow sea island cotton exclusively. These growers have felt themselves hampered in that the thread mills have been practically their only buyers, thus leaving them with only three customers, as this business is in the hands of three large companies. However, yarn from sea island cotton is in high demand. The silk factories use a large amount of it, and want more than they can get. A large quantity is needed for high-class rubber hose, and the growth of the automobile business has made a new use for sea island yarn, 23,000 bales of sea island cotton having gone into automobile tires last year.

In order to meet this situation a number of growers of Bradford, Suwanee, Hamilton, Columbia, Baker, and Alachua counties, of Florida, have organized a company, and will build a cooperative yarn mill. At first it was intended to invest $50,000, but now the project has grown until a plant will be put up involving an outlay of $400,000. Such a mill, it is said, will take practically all the fancy east Florida sea island cotton off the market. The Florida growers hope to meet some foreign spinners who might be interested in mill investments in their territory. The party is quartered at the Marion, and is composed of the following:

T. J. Appleyard, of Lake City, editor of The Index, of that city, and a large sea island grower; J. R. Williams, of Alachua, vice president of the Southern Sea Island Cotton Association; J. W. Hatcher, of Lake City, a large sea island grower; J. C. Sheffield, of Lake City, president of the First National bank of that city; President C. H. Brown, of the First National bank of Live Oak, and Zach Brown, of Columbia, one of the largest sea island growers in Florida.

RECEPTION TO SPINNERS AT CAPITAL CITY CLUB

The reception at the Capital City Club last night, given by the social committee in charge of the entertainment of the cotton spinners, was a brilliant event among the social functions incidental to the convention.

The guests were received in the ball room, which presented a hospitable appearance with its decorations of potted plants and flags. The national colors were draped from the orchestra gallery and clusters of flags and tall palms were used with picturesque effect on all sides.

After introductions the reception extended into the blue room and the surrounding apartments, where there was again an elaborate use of palms and flags with frequent baskets of southern roses.

A delicious buffet supper was served, an orchestra played appropriate music during the evening, and the entire hospitality of the evening was such as to inspire a general enjoyment.

The visiting women were a charming assemblage, and a representative gathering of Atlanta women were present, wearing beautiful gowns.

Mrs. Peel wore a white olga crepe gown, elaborately applied duchesse and rose point lace.

Mrs. Harvie Jordan wore black silk and lace embroidered in the Persian colors.

Mrs. W. P. Inman wore a reception gown of pale blue chiffon cloth and lace.

Mrs. R. D. Spalding wore gens d'arme blue silk and lace.

Mrs. W. H. Kiser wore a princesse gown of white net and lace.

Mrs. W. A. Wimbish wore an empire gown in cream-colored lace.

Mrs. George Dexter wore cream-colored pointe de Llerre lace.

Mrs. John Murphy wore a princesse gown of point lace.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore wore canary-colored silk and black thread lace.

Mrs. E. L. Connally wore cream-colored lace.

Mrs. John D. Little wore a white lisse gown embroidered in orchids, sparkling with sequins.

Mrs. Frank Ellis wore a princesse gown of black jetted net.

Mrs. Don A. Pardee wore blue chiffon and lace.

Mrs. W. D. Roone wore black lace.

Mrs. John M. Slaton wore white chiffon cloth and lace.

Mrs. J. W. Pope wore an empire gown in black lace.

Mrs. Barton Blount wore black velvet and lace.

Mrs. George Crandall wore a white lace princesse gown.

Miss Marion Peel wore white silk and lace.

SPINNERS VISIT THE TECH AND SEE STUDENTS AT WORK

About 200 foreign spinners, under the guidance of Mayor Joyner and W. G. Cooper, secretary of the chamber of commerce, took special cars at the Piedmont hotel at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and visited the Tech, where they were interested spectators of the student body at work in various departments of the school.

Accompanying the party were members of the city council, who acted as a special escort.

The weather was somewhat threatening, and for this reason many delegates to the convention did not go out. Others took advantage of the fact that Buffalo Bill's show was in the city, and went out to see the Indians.

Those who visited the Tech were amply repaid for their trouble. Under the guidance of various instructors they went through every department of the school, from the repair shop to the Lyman Hall chemical laboratory.

Visited the Textile School.

Naturally they were more interested in the French textile school than any other department. Here they found a number of students at work in all the departments, from designing patternr for prints and drilling to turning out the actual cloth.

Not only were the foreigners amazed at the class of goods the students produced, but the eyes of a great many Atlantans were opened as well. They found the looms turning out table cloths of a most artistic pattern, jeans goods, drilling, toweling and any number of other fabrics.

Prominent among the foreigners in the party was Hon. James Lawrence, of Choley, Lancashire, England, chairman of the committee on higher education and technical training for his city. Mr. Lawrence was particularly interested and was constantly taking notes of the machinery he saw.

"Choley is but a small town," said Mr. Lawrence, "but we have a splendid technical school. It is not so large as your excellent institution here, only having about 150 students, but it is better equipped in many respects. We have no textile department, however, and I am greatly interested in your school for that reason. I have received many valuable ideas which I shall incorporate in a report when I return.

English Night School.

"Our school at home has a night department, and we have found it a valuable adjunct in educating and training the poorer young men of the community. Such a department, I fancy, would be of great value to your technological school."

Coach Heisman was out on the flats with his football squad during the visit of the spinners. He did not stop the men. The time was too short. Many of the delegates visited the flats and watched the boys in practice. They found this fully as interesting as the mechanical side of the trip.

THOUGHT HE COULD NOT BE CURED

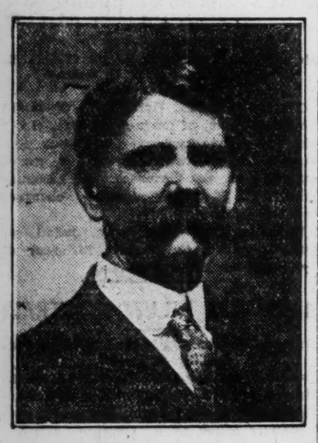

But Found That There Is a Cure for the Drug Habit.

HE TOOK HOME TREATMENT

His Wife and Children Were Delighted When They Realized That He Was a Cured Man — Writes Enthusiastically About His Cure.

Charles B. James, Memphis, Tenn.:

Dear Sir and Friend—I am just in receipt of your letter, and regret to say that it is a fact: that people were so heartless as to tell me that there was no cure in a home treatment for the drug habit and I was almost persuaded not to attempt relief, but I thank the good Lord I did not let them persuade me, for I can now say that by experience I know better, as I have since taken a full course of your home treatment, and am now getting along fine. I was away from home at my son's residence when I took the treatment. When I left home I determined I should never return, unless I went back a cured man. When I returned home I most certainly met the happiest wife that ever lived. She and my little son, who is only 15 years old, were two of the happiest people in Camden when I told them that I was all right and free from the horrible drug. When they saw me and looked me over I knew from their expression that they realized I was a cured man, and my gratitude to you for the relief received through your home treatment is inexpressible. Language cannot express how I feel in the way of appreciation of what has been accomplished in my case. My wife and children join me in wishing you all the success that can befall any one on this earth.

W. R. Miller, Camden, Ark.

Hoping that some time in the near future, I may see you in order that you may contrast my present condition with the condition I was in when you first met me, I am your friend,

W. R. MILLER.

WHERE PRODUCER AND PURCHASER GET TOGETHER.

There is nothing that has been said incident to the great international cotton conference now in progress in Atlanta of more significance or import than the statement of President C. W. Macara, of the European International Cotton Spinners' Association, indicative of the fact that the chief aim of grower and spinner is toward the same identical end—the elimination from the cotton trade of the world of the speculative and gambling element, which is primarily responsible for the frequent, groundless and often ruinous fluctuations in the price of the staple, fluctuations which have no possible relation to the natural laws of supply and demand.

While one of the chief desires on the part of the spinners is to confer with the producers as to better methods of baling and warehousing cotton, in order that the staple may be preserved in its primal purity, there is a far stronger, a controlling desire, on the part of both interests to eliminate the gambling element from the cotton exchanges of all countries, in order to prevent these frequently violent fluctuations in the price of the raw material.

Mr. Macara has well expressed this desire on the part of the spinners in a statement published in The Constitution. After commenting briefly on the need of legitimate middle men, such as samplers and mill agents, to whose presence no objection has been raised, Mr. Macara said:

> But the opportunities that have been given to men who neither grow nor spin cotton, nor are legitimately interested in its distribution, to bring about ruinous fluctuations in the price of raw material, is an evil more prejudicial to the cotton business than any other which now exists. The baling and warehousing of your staple has not been as satisfactory as you and we desire, but the evil I have mentioned is vastly more pernicious in its effect.

Continuing, Mr. Macara shows that the burden of cotton gambling falls as heavily upon the spinner as upon the producer, and that it is equally to the interest of both to effectually eliminate it. Mr. Macara further said:

> We wish the market to be responsive to the ordinary laws of supply and demand. We want your cotton and are prepared to pay for it a price which will adequately reward your farmers for their outlay of capital and their employment of labor. The interests of the cotton growers and the spinners of cotton are identical. The burdens imposed upon business and the disastrous influence of gambling operations upon all who are legitimately concerned in the progress of the industry, which is second only in importance to agriculture itself, cannot be exaggerated. It has led to the dislocation of business, to the stopping of mills, and to the ruin of many, including not a few of the speculators themselves. To such lengths has the evil extended that the need for a world-wide organization to combat the operations of the speculators was brought home to all Europe four years ago.

This is just the position which The Constitution has persistently taken for years in its efforts in behalf of the producer, to drive the speculator and the gambler from his unlawful field of operations and his pernicious practices. It is the exact position of the Farmers' Union.

All the producer asks now or has ever asked is a fair, legitimate and just price for his product. What he does not propose to tolerate and will not tolerate longer is that, having a product which he knows to be worth 15 cents a pound, he shall be forced through the manipulations of the exchange gambler and speculator to part with it at 12 cents or less.

It is the instability of the price more than anything else that has been responsible for trade disruption, affecting alike both spinner and producer, and the speculator is largely responsible for this instability.

All the spinner asks is that he shall receive the cotton at a fair price—its actual worth—controlled by the laws of supply and demand; and that it shall come to him well baled and properly protected from the destructive elements which injure the staple.

Upon this common ground, then, it should be easily possible for spinner and producer to get together, and eliminate from all possibility of further evil to the trade this pernicious and destructive exchange gambling element.

If they make this common cause of a common evil, it would mean the end effectively and for all time of gambling in cotton.

The cotton gambler lives upon that subversion of the law of supply and demand which he himself creates. The subversion of that natural law is destructive of legitimate trade.

The instability of the price of cotton, due to the frequent fluctuations caused by speculation and the irregular and unsystematic marketing of the crop, was, perhaps, the primary factor in bringing the Farmers' Union into existence. The producer might plant for 12-cent cotton and get no more than 8 or 10; thus were his profits and, perhaps, in large part, his livelihood wiped out.

Likewise, instability in the price of the staple is the bane of the spinner who finds himself compelled to buy future contracts to protect his legitimate purchases.

Here, then, it would seem, there is a common ground upon which producer and spinner might get together, forming a communion of interests and eliminating the speculator who creates that instability and makes of it his working capital, deriving from it illegitimate profits.

From simple and modest beginning in a small Texas town, the Farmers' Union has grown into an organization of gigantic proportions, built up on business principles. It has 1,600,000 members, the great majority of whom are engaged in the production of cotton. It has its perfected organization of business agents—county, state and national—who are today transacting in bulk the business of its members.

In the organization of these business agents the Farmers' Union has practically already perfected a system through which it is prepared to sell as well as to buy; through which it is prepared to meet the spinners of the world on a business footing, and ship the cotton direct from the farm to the mill; through which it is qualified to give the best of guarantees of good faith in the performance of contract.

The Farmers' Union realizes that in order to bring about this desired end mutual concession is necessary, and it has expressed always through its official heads willingness to meet the spinners on a fair and equitable basis. Coming together in this spirit, there would seem to be no obstacle to agreement upon satisfactory terms; it would be merely a matter of arranging the details, and direct trade between farm and mill would follow.

In the Farmers' Union is witnessed the greatest organization of agricultural producers the world has ever seen. Founded squarely on solid business principles, held together by the strongest of mutual interests, the material and the social welfare of its members, and with the last vestige of politics, the rock upon which similar organizations have gone down, eliminated, it has reached that point of stability which not only insures its success, but also its growth to far greater proportions of power and strength.

There is no higher end at which both elements of that legitimate trade can aim than the complete and permanent suppression of the speculative evil.

That such is the chief aim of both these elements—producer and spinner—is cause for profound gratification.

The Interstate Lines.

To the extent of providing absolute national supervision of interstate railroads, The Constitution heartily endorses the reforms urged by the president and put into effect by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The government should exercise the same degree of supervision over railroads that it now does over national banks.

The plan worked out by the commission and put into effect by all railroads on July 1st, will unquestionably accomplish much good. The books of every interstate carrier must be kept according to a uniform plan. The accounts of earnings and expenses of railroads should be set forth as plainly as the deposits, circulation and loans and discounts of national banks. By this means an investor who goes into the market for railroad securities will have something of real value to guide him in his purchases.

This goes to the bottom of a complex difficulty. It will improve the confidence of the public in the honesty of railroad management. The books of the railroads will in future be honestly kept. This may be confidently predicted, for the various chief accounting officer of the railroad is made personally responsible for the accurracy of their books and accounts. If any rascality is perpetrated, he will face a criminal warrant.

There will still be the possibility of manipulating railroads and their various branches for the benefit of the Wall street element. But that chance is minimized now. The small stockholder may still be buncoed and find his property depreciating in value to the point where he is glad to part with it, only to find it later restored to par value. These are the practices of high finance which it is needless to go into here.

The precise limit of the authority imposed in the Interstate Commerce Commission has not yet been settled by the courts. The commission has ample power over purely interstate lines to force obedience to its rulings. But there are other lines of roads, wholely within a state, which are yet engaged in interstate commerce to the extent that they receive and ship merchandise from points within a state to points outside the state. The right to regulate traffic and passenger service wholly within the state should be vested in the state railroad commissions. They have an important work to do.

The Texas Star says the third term "is a dream." Well, that lets Roosevelt out of it; he says he hasn't had a dream since childhood.

ADVANTAGES OF A CONVENTION CITY.

Atlanta looms very large in the eye of the nation this week. Three conventions, two of them with an international interest, are proceeding almost simultaneously, enough distinction, and, as a factor worthy of consideration, enough advertising in the course of seven days for a city of something over one hundred thousand inhabitants.

The cotton conference will, of course, take precedence in point of scope and importance. Including all the human elements that have to do with the production and handling of the biggest money crop of the nation and the industrial backbone of the south, ordinary sense of proportion dictates that it should be given first significance.

The American Boiler Manufacturers' Association and its convention are, virtually, of international moment, since its membership embraces manufacturers in the Dominion of Canada. Concerning one of the most progressive basic industries of the day, its deliberations will be eagerly followed in every portion of America.

Of relatively great importance is the national assembly of the rural free delivery carriers. This convention is, in a measure, unique beside the other two. Its delegates from every state in the union represent an institution that enters intimately into the lives of the people, and that has attained its far-spreading proportions within the marvelously brief space of a decade.

The assembling of these three bodies is the most genuine tribute to the cosmopolitan reputation of Atlanta, as well as to those strategical and commercial advantages which have made it, in the eye of the world, the municipality most precisely typical of the new south.

As good has followed previous single gatherings of national organizations, material benefits cannot fail to flow from the simultaneous meetings of three such important bodies. The cotton spinners from foreign lands nearly all represent or are on familiar terms with investing capital. They cannot fail to be impressed with the advantages offered in this direction by wide-awake, aggressive Atlanta and the state of which it is the capital. Similar reasoning applies to the delegates present at the convention of the boiler-makers.

The rural free delivery carriers stand in such close relation to the sturdiest variety of homeseekers in every state of the union that the missionary work they can do for this section is almost incalculable.

Aside from these material advantages accruing from her eminent position as a convention city and the consequent helpful publicity, this city, in supplying a meeting ground for the important organizations to which reference has been made, is fulfilling another extremely important role: That of promoting closer personal acquaintance, a finer tolerance between the people of the different states and the inhabitants of America and the European countries.

It is a good work that Atlanta is doing for herself and the south this week. And the completion of the auditorium-armory, with continued activity on part of our business men, means greater opportunities in this drection.

The Road to Development.

"Why should not Brunswick duplicate the growth of Los Angeles or Portland or Seattle? Its advantages exceed theirs. Only broad, untiring energy is needed to accomplish vast results in Brunswick and a thousand other places when once the pall of political agitation has been removed from the south."

In these stimulating terms The Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore refers to an advertising crusade undertaken by the Georgia seaport. The business men of that place plan a systematic crusade to promote its growth and the materialization of its many possibilities.

The Record cordially commends the movement and says that if the aggressive spirit of advertising is adopted with adaptations by every southern state and city, the south will speedily record as marvelous a development as that which the same methods have brought to the great west.

Mr. Edmonds' contention is founded on the soundest of logic. The south, as he declares, is possessed of resources and natural handicaps surpassing those of the western states, though it is doubtful if the average southerner realizes the full significance of that statement. It is only necessary to place a list of the assets of the two sections side by side, to be convinced of its accuracy.

We have expanded marvelously in the past in face of the fact that we have not adopted the publicity methods which have stimulated the development of the western states. If the newspapers and the commercial bodies of the southern states and cities inaugurated a perpetual motion cooperative system of exploitation, such as has for years been in force west of the Mississippi, our material wealth would be quadrupled within the next decade.

Our Future at Stake.

The average citizen, who in the ordinary round of work and play does not concern himself specially with large questions beyond the horizon of his own time or interests, must have been considerably startled by the serious assertion of President Roosevelt at Memphis that the nation is fast exhausting the resources fondly thought to be inexhaustible, and that we are confronted by the impelling need of an immediate halt.

"We are face to face," the president declares, "with the great fact that the whole future of the nation is directly at stake in the momentous decision which is forced upon us. Shall we continue the waste and destruction of our national resources, or shall we conserve them? There is no other question of equal gravity now before the nation."

There are some tolerably grave questions up for national adjudication, moreover, so that it need not be imagined that Mr. Roosevelt was dealing in exaggeration or hyperbole when he gave the issue of conservation of our natural wealth the preeminence.

The casual reader is capable of the little analysis needful to corroborate the president's assertion. A nation's natural resources are the basis of its wealth and greatness, its capital, as surely as is the health of the individual. Dazed by the versatility and volume of the possibilities which Providence has planted in the fields and forests and under the earth, we have entered upon a wanton expenditure of that capital, never considering the day when it might be exhausted or so radically depleted as to amount to the same thing.

So many of the governors accompanying the presidential party on its trip down the Mississippi concurred in Mr. Roosevelt's sentiments, that he has, at their behest, decided to call a conference to be held in Wasnington on next January, the object of which shall be to devise ways and means for remedying the unheeding extravagance of which complaint is made.

The south, perhaps, has fewer lessons to learn in this respect than the west and east, since it has not offended as emphatically as either one of these sections. It is incumbent upon us, however, to proceed with the knowledge that development of the highest order is not incompatible with economy of natural resources, and a due regard for the future.

Railroad Casualities.

One of the most impelling of all reasons for the hostility to railroads which still exists in all parts of the United States, is the too frequent occurrence of destructive wrecks.

Wrecks are costly. They entail loss of life and loss of property. They interfere with transportation and cause delays that are annoying to passengers and destructive to business.

In the recent disaster which befell a train bearing a party of two or three hundred Mystic Shriners, en route to the annual convention of the order at Los Angeles, 120 were killed and injured. In the wreck on the Boston and Maine railroad a few days ago, fifty persons received more or less serious injuries. Numerous other accidents with slightly fewer casualties, have led the public to believe that the roads are frequently guilty of criminal carelessness in this respect.

Laws regarding the use of safety appliances are very often ignored; regulations adopted by congress providing a limit upon the hours of continuous employment are not everywhere being strictly observed. In many cases the number of employees are not equal to the demands of traffic.

If the railroads should be forced to further reduce their working forces by reason of the stringency of the money market, this will be an additional menace to safe travel.

The reading public who are occasionally shocked by the news of railroad disasters in various sections of the United States, may not have an accurate idea of the extent of the damage thus caused. Statistics prepared by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the year 1906 present some totals that are nothing less than astounding. During that fiscal year 10,618 persons were killed and 97,706 injured by the railroads in the United States, as against 6,335 killed and 29,027 injured in 1890.

It is not sufficient answer to point to the tremendous railway mileage of this country, approximating one-half of the railway lines of the entire world. The showing is not a creditable one for the railroads. Deaths from wrecks here are vastly in excess of the casualities in Europe, and the speed maintained on our lines is not very much greater than that maintained abroad.

The railroads have it in their hands to greatly reduce the number of homicides which are annually charged up to their account, and no effort of theirs to improve railway service would win the more prompt appreciation of the public.

The congestion of traffic which is apt to prevail during the next few months, combined with the danger of fast trains, will present a constant menace to life. The most vigorous and active efforts of the railroads will be needed to keep the tracks clear. An insufficient number of men and employees kept on duty beyond the period of human endurance are not conducive to safety and prompt service.

It costs $106 to be a Georgia colonel, but, then, prices are up now.

"The maps we have been giving as premiums to subscribers caused a little temporary excitement in our office Thursday," says the editor of The Adams Enterprise. "Ben Spudge called and casually remarked in the presence of seven intending subscribers that the said maps weren't worth the paper they were printed on. As this observation caused the seven intending ones to keep their cash in their pockets we proceeded to make a map of Ben's countenance, and we succeeded so well that he is now the best walking advertisement our map industry ever had. A "Timely Poem."

The author of the touching Georgia lyric entitled "At a Quarter to One" sends us the following revised version of the poem:

"In the darkness of life he has left me,
When I thought it was only in fun;
'I shall take the next train,' he informed me,—
'I shall go at a quarter to one!'

"'Twas only a true lover's quarrel:
He asked for a kiss and I said:
'Not if I know it, my honey!'
And he packed his valise and he fled.

"I called—but he just wouldn't hear me,
And help in the world there was none;
The train bore him far out of hearing
That day, at a quarter to one!"

"Uncle Billy's" Misfortune.

The Melton Courier relates the following "Incident of the Baptizing:"

"There was trouble at the Baptizin' the other day, when good old 'Uncle Billy,' as he is affectionately called, lost his teeth in the river. It was a new set he had just purchased, and the loss falls heavily on him. And here is how it happened: A hard old sinner for whom Uncle Billy had been praying ten year—come Christmas—flung up and went down to be baptized, and when Uncle Billy beheld the inspiring spectacle he hollered 'Hallelula!' When lo, and behold, out fell his new teeth, immediately disappearing beneath the turbid waters! The river was dragged for them in vain, and the supposition is that they were swallowed by a catfish—or may be, some hungry alligator. The whole town sympathizes with Uncle Billy, and a subscription has been started to get him a new set, with which we trust he may have better luck."

CAPITOL GOSSIP

The supreme court of Georgia yesterday opened its October term with a full bench present. The court was promptly adjourned, it being announced that there would be no oral argument this week, owing to the retirement of Justice Andrew J. Cobb on October 12, and the coming to the bench of Justice Horace M. Holden, on next Monday. Oral argument will begin at that time.

The state court of appeals likewise opened its October term yesterday, and argument was begun on the criminal docket. There are about sixty cases on this docket, and they will probably consume the entire week.

From Convict Hire.

The quarterly statement of the prison commission for the quarter ending September 30 was completed yesterday and filed with the comptroller general. The statement shows receipts from this source for the quarter of $94,395.45, an increase of about $1,000 over those of the preceding quarter. There has been a steady increase in the receipts from this source, and they have gone up about $10,000 in the last three years.

Reward Is Offered.

Governor Smith yesterday offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension of Clifford Warnick, who is wanted in Whitfield county for the murder of Chester Wilson on September 26, last.

CITY COUNCIL TO MEET ON WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

No Quorum Was Present When Meeting Was Called Yesterday Afternoon.

The city council did not hold its regular semi-monthly meeting yesterday afternoon, but a djourned to meet tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock.

On account of several of the members of council being engaged in entertaining the delegates to the conventions in the city no quorum was present yesterday, and on motion of Councilman Longino an adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

It was at first agreed that the meeting should be held on Thursday, but as that is the day when the state fair opens, the date was changed.

There are many matters of importance to be considered by council when it meets.

BOOM STRIKES COLBERT.

Madison County Town Growing Rapidly in Population.

Colbert, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—An era of prosperity is visiting Colbert that looks like business, sure enough. Last Saturday at an auction land sale lots sold like hot cakes at a good price. People bought lots and are now laying down lumber to build dwellings and store houses.

There has just been completed a handsome brickk block and established a bank with $25,000 cash capital. A new telephone system is being put in.

Colbert has two big ginneries, one Monger suction system, and cotton is rolling into town in a steady stream. This is a fine cotton market and the merchants are doing a good business. The town is surrounded by one of the best farming sections in the state and our farmers are prospering as never before.

This is the best opening in the state for a cotton mill. People can buy property here, either town lots or residence property, at a fair price, as the citizens want to encourage all to come who want to live in a live, growing town.

BIG ENGINE BLEW UP.

Portion of Roof Was Destroyed—$10,000 Damage Done.

Marietta, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The big engine that runs the paper machine at the Georgia Manufacturing Public Service company blew up Sunday evening and was completely destroyed.

The roof of that part of the building where the engine was located was torn into bits, and several pieces of the engine were thrown a quarter of a mile from the mills.

The damage done will amount to close to $10,000, and will cause the paper machine to shut down.

ARREST MADE OF NEGRO WHO KILLED BAILIFF

Negro Was Caught at Greenville, S. C., and Turned Over to Gwinnett Sheriff.

Greenville, S. C., October 7.—(Special.) Sheriff Brown, of Gwinett county, Georgia, came here yesterday and took possession of Matthew Howell, a negro wanted for the murder of Deputy Sheriff J. B. Rainey, which occurred last Thursday.

It is said the negro was jailed at Gainesville by the sheriff for fear of lynching at Lawrenceville.

BABY WAS KILLED BY TRAIN

Sixteen-Months-Old Infant Was Knocked From Track.

Athens, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The sixteen-months-old child of Lee Anderson was knocked from the track and instantly killed by a Georgia railroad passenger engine this morning.

The accident happened at a crossing four miles from Athens.

Shot Friend Accidentally.

Eatonton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—While out hunting late Saturday, Henry L. Leonard was accidentally shot by Ed Seers, his companion on the hunt.

The two men had just separated in the field, and Mr. Seers had called to Mr. Leonard to look out and Mr. Leonard replied from the other side of the brush that he would.

Almost an instant later Mr. Seers fired at a squirrel and Mr. Leonard, fearing a second shot, dropped on the ground with face and neck peppered with shot, and also a stray shot in the corner of his right eye.

Mr. Seers, seeing his friend drop, and thinking he had killed him, fell in a faint.

The wounded man and his friend were two miles out from the city and as soon as possible came in to a physician, where Mr. Leonard's wounds were dressed and pronounced not serious.

$10,000 FEE FOR WIMBISH IN WESTERN LUMBER CASE

Colonel W. A. Wimbish Returns from Seattle to Represent State in Rate Hearing. Will Hurry Back to the Coast.

With a $10,000 retaining fee in his pocket, and the assurance that there is a fund for $250,000 in hand to fight the proposed increase on the lumber rate from the Pacific coast to the middle west and east, Attorney W. A. Wimbish, of Atlanta, has returned from Seattle, Wash., where, on Tuesday, he filed a bill of equity in the case before United States Judge Hanford.

Colonel Wimbish, who successfully thwarted the effort of the Southern and other railroads to effect a 2-cent raise on the lumber rates from Georgia to points beyond the Ohio river, in the case of Tift v. the Southern railway, et al., has been engaged to conduct a similar case for the Pacific Coast Lumbermen's Association against the great Hill and Harriman lines, who propose an increased freight rate of 25 per cent on lumber shipped from the extreme west to the middle west and the east.

The Proposed Increase.

At present this rate is 40 cents on the 100 feet. The proposed increase will make it 50 cents on the 100 feet, and with the vast forests to be hewn and shipped it will mean an additional expense of several million dollars to the lumbermen of that section.

Rather than tamely submit, this association raised a fund of a quarter of a million dollars, as a starter, sent for Colonel Wimbish, whose fame as a rate-breaker had preceded him and called into conference Attorneys Austin E. Griffith, of Seattle, and W. A. Abel, of Monte Sano.

They met in Seattle, Wash., week before last, drew up a contract to represent the association in its fight to a finish, and as an evidence of good faith on the part of the lumbermen to see the fight through, presented each of the counsel with a retaining fee of $10,000 each.

The bill in equity was drawn and duly filed.

Quick Trip Home.

After traveling across the continent to engage in this rate-breaking case Attorney Wimbish caught the first train possible, afetr filing this bill to get to Atlanta in time to aid the state in holding the reduced passenger fares, ordered by the railroad commission, and which the Central of Georgia, and other railroads, are attempting to enjoin. Colonel Wimbish arrived in Atlanta Sunday night, and was early in the federal court on yesterday morning aiding Attorney General Hart in the defense of the state's position.

In speaking of his trip Colonel Wimbish said:

"The association of lumbermen we represent has determined to fight the illegal raise which the Hill and Harriman lines have attempted to saddle upon them. This raise is a 25 per cent increase on a 100 feet of lumber shipped from the Pacific coast to the middle west and east. This rate is put in on the Hill lines of the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. The Harriman lines which raised the rate are the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company.

"The Canadian Pacific railroad has not raised its rates for shipments which start in Canada and end in Canada, too, no matter about the distance, but has raised the rate on shipments secured by its branch roads in the United States and entering at points further east in the United States.

Will Return to Seattle.

"We filed our bill on last Tuesday, and as soon as I can get away from my business here I will return to argue the case, which will be on the 29th of this month.

"Seattle is certainly the coming western city. It is one of the best laid out, one of the best managed, and one of the most progressive cities I ever saw. It is going to outstrip Chicago, and rival New York.

"If I were 20 years younger I know of nothing which could keep me from living there.

"But, returning to this lumbermen's fight. We are going to fight that increase until we whip it out and prove it illegal. It is already reported that both Hill and Harriman would be glad to get out of it if they saw any way without just backing out.

"The case will go before the inter state commerce commission, and will take a long time to be heard."

HOW DARKTOWN HUSBAND WAS MISLED BY RECORDER

"Now dat yer got de right, 'cordin' ter de law ez laid down by Judge Briles, fer go inter mer pockets and take all mer money," said Carsey Coleman, of Darktown, to his wife, Sunday morning, "I axes yer to men' mer pants whut am torn an' frough which yer's got de right ter rummage fer money."

Coleman's wife was busy looking after a squalling four weeks old baby, and when she did not put the infant down and mend the pants instanter, Coleman picked up a plowline and began to beat his wife until her neighbors heard her yelling for mercy.

After using the plowline until his arm was tired, Coleman opened the door and kicked his wife into the street.

When arraigned in police court yesterday morning, Coleman admitted all that was charged against him, and said, by way of vindication:

"Disser cote done helt dat er man's wife got de right to take all her 'osband's money outer his pants pockets at night an' dat atter she done tuk de money dere haint no law kin tech her. Mer pants was ripped and tored an' nebber had no buttons on 'em, 'an I 'lowed ter merse'f ef mer wife had de right ter ramshack frough dem pants she had de right ter men' 'em when I axed her ter do hit. So, I axed her to put dem pants in fuss class corndishun an' when she 'lowed dat she had de baby ter take keer oh, I 'lowed ter let her know dat 'er 'osband had some rights ter git eben wid de right dat Jedge Briles said she had ter sarchin' fer money whut she haint nebber wurked fer."

"And so you whipped her with a plowline and kicked her out of doors because she wouldn't mend your trousers?" 'the recorder asked him.

"Dat's perzactly whut I done, Jedge Briles," replied Coleman.

"I'll fine you $5.75 this time," said the recorder, "because you have made an honest confession and because you may have been misled by the law of retaliation. But you have no right to whip your wife for any such reason, and I still hold to my ruling that a wife has a legal right to take her husband's money without fear of prosecution."

Coleman paid the fine, as he shook his head and muttered:

"Hit looks lak er poor law dat doan wurk boff ways."

$7,309.16 FOR AN ARM GIVEN HENRY CHAPMAN

A verdict for $7,309.16 was returned in the first division of the city court of Atlanta, yesterday, in favor of Henry S. Chapman against the Seaboard Air Line.

The plaintiff was an employee of this road as a switchman, and he alleges that through the carelessness of that road he was crushed by a train and his left arm so injured as to necessitate amputation near the shoulder.

He filed suit against this road for $25,000 alleged damages and after a trial which extended into this week, from last, he was awarded the verdict referred to.

The case will, in all probability, be appealed.

WHAT IT COST TO TELL COP TO GO TO HELL

Young Man Fined Five Dollars for Extending Such a Warm Invitation.

According to Recorder Broyles' ruling yesterday morning, it costs $5.75 to tell a policeman over the telephone to "go to hell."

M. P. Mattox, a young man who works for the Independent Ice Company, called up the police barracks Sunday to inquire about a negro wagon driver who had been locked up. The officer had to look over a hundred names on the docket, and was not quite fast enough to suit Mattox.

According to the evidence of Policeman Gallagher, who talked with Mattox over the 'phone, Mattox, becoming impatient, said, "You can just go to hell."

Mattox denied that he extended any such warm invitation to the cop, and had two negroes, who were at the ice house Sunday morning, to testify.

The negroes gave what is known in court as negative testimony. They swore they did not hear Mattox tell the officer to go to hell.

On the other hand, Officer Gallagher swore positively that Mattox did tell him to go to hell.

"We often get talked to in an abusive way over the 'phone," stated the officer, "and it is hard to catch the people who did it."

It was in evidence that Mattox gave his name and address over the 'phone when asked to do so. This was probably one reason why the recorder did not make the fine larger.

Rural free delivery badges, a white ribbon, showing the covered mail wagon in bright red colors, were in abundance about the corridors, the hallways and the entrances at the Kimball, the Piedmont, the Aragon and other hotels last night.

A few of the delegates to the annual assembly came in Sunday afternoon, and were materially augmented Sunday night. The majority of these early arrivals were from a distance, the northwest, the far middle west, and the remote southwest, marking the sections from which the visitors came.

But yesterday the inpouring of the rural free delivery carriers was emphatic. The home committee on reception and entertainment, James L. Erwin, of Atlanta, chairman, opened a book of registration in the headquarters at the Aragon, to which each of the arriving delegates was directed and where he made a record of his name, his home and the state association from which he came. With Chairman Erwin was National President Lindsay, a resident of Georgia, and the other members of the reception committee, which had been named by President Lindsay. In addition to Chairman Erwin, were George DeBrosse, of Statesboro, president of the state organization; P. C. Coker, of Chamblee, and J. H. Williams and H. F. Williams, of Atlanta.

Before the midnight hour visitors from nearly every state in the union had been recorded, located by the home committee for the four days they will be in Atlanta, and had been properly badged and made conversant with the location of the state house, where the sessions will be held—in the senate chamber—and advised of the time and the place of the leading functions of the national convention.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General DeGraw, whose appearance yesterday was expected, did not come in, but his arrival is booked for one of the early morning trains.

The features of the sessions today, apart from the welcome to the city by Mayor Joyner, will be the addresses by Postmaster Blodgett, by Clark Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, and President DeBrosse, of the Georgia state association. The afternoon session will be enlivened by Congressmen Livingston and Griggs, of the Georgia delegation.

The programs for the coming days of the convention follows:

SERVED WITH INJUNCTION.

Receiver and Trustee Talley Served With Injunction Proceedings.

Constitution Bureau, Brown House, Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Receiver and Trustee J. N. Talley, of the bankruptcy case of W. A. Davis company, was served with injunction proceedings today requiring him to show cause before Judge U. V. Whipple, of the superior court, why he should not bring his suits for the recovery of certain notes of the bankrupt concern from the Exchange bank in the state court instead of the United States court.

A short time ago he filed suits in the United States court for the recovery of more than $40,000 against the bank on the grounds that the institution had been made a preferred creditor by the members of the W. A. Davis company after the concern became insolvent and that the Exchange bank had thereby received a large sum that should go pro rata to the creditors.

As trustee in the case, he entered the United States court where the bankruptcy proceedings are now being conducted. In the state court all the litigation in the Exchange bank case is being conducted and the question is whether he should go back to that court for a hearing. Judge Whipple has set October 26 for a hearing in the injunction proceeding.

ATLANTA MAN TRIES SUICIDE

J. W. Golucke Attempts His Own Life in Newton Jail.

Albany, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—J. W. Golucke, the Atlanta architect, who is confined in the Baker county jail at Newton on a charge of forgery in connection with a recent bond issue of that county, and who has been unable to make the $20,000 bond required, on yesterday afternoon attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat and wrists with a piece of glass.

Golucke's act was seen by a negro prisoner, who gave the alarm, which brought parties who prevented Golucke from accomplishing his purpose. It is believed that Golucke also used drugs, as he lingered in a comatose state last night and was believed to be in a desperate condition. He has recovered beyond the danger point today. Golucke left a note stating that he was going to kill himself.

Recorder's Resignation Accepted.

Dublin, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—At a special session of the city council the resignation of Recorder James B. Sanders was accepted. The city council did not at first accept Mr. Sanders' resignation, giving him an opportunity to withdraw same, which it is understood he was about to do. A rumor became prevalent that the members of council had promised the recorder not to reverse him again. When this became known a special session of the council was held and the resignation accepted.

SOCIETY

BRILLIANT SOCIAL SIDE TO COTTON CONVENTION

Receptions to the Ladies Attending Spinners, Sessions Given by Mrs. C. T. Ladson and by Mrs. W. L. Peel.

The social side of the convention of Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers, was characteristic of Atlanta in brightness and hispitality, and yesterday afternoon and evening, there were entertainments at which the distinguished guests met with Atlanta's most representative people.

At half after one o'clock, Mrs. C. T. Ladson and her three beautiful young daughters gave a beautiful luncheon, about sixty ladies in the party.

From there they were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Peel, where an informal musical program, introducing a group of Atlanta's talented people, preceded five o'clock tea, there being a group of charming women assisting Mrs. Peel to receive her guests. In the evening, there was a buffe. supper at the Capital Club, ata which the ladies and gentlemen were entertained.

At 11 o'clock the social committee of Atlanta ladies, of which committee Mrs. W. L. Peel is chairman, met the ladies at the Piedmont hotel, and after an informal reception, they drove around the city, seeing various points of interest. The foreign members of the party proved to be apt linguists, and though prefering to speak French with their Atlanta hostesses who spoke "la belle langre," all of them spoke English with that accent always so attractive in the foreign people of culture.

Mrs. Ladson's Luncheon.

The palatial home of Mrs. C. T. Ladson was bright with flowers on all sides, and in the dining room the flowers used were Meteor roses and ferns.

The panels of the wall, separated by groups of volute columns, were in a deep rose color, and the calmets, china closet, serving tables, and the buffet were all mahogony.

The centerable, oblong in shape, had has as centerpiece an elaborate plateau of ferns, out of which arose long-stemmed crimson roses in clusters, broken here and there by the budding cotton which the visiting ladies from the north are seeing "grown" for the first time. Then through the roses and cotton could be seen little silken flags of all nations, the plateau tipped by a flag showing the colors of the national insignia. At the base of the centerpiece were tiny bales of cotton, upon which were miniature picaninnies in bisque, under a spray of wheat, serving as souvenirs of the occasion. Silver baskets held cakes, in a design of cotton bales, and the ices were designed in the form of the cotton boll.

The bonbons carried out the same idea. On the serving table were silver candle sticks holding white shaded tapers, between vases of roses, and the whole reflected the artistic taste of the gracious hostess.

An elegant luncheon was enjoyed, the guests served to coffee in the court, in the rear of the house, and in the center of which the spray of a fountain made fresh and fragrant the flowers in beds and borders on all sides. It was here that the foreign ladies had their photographs taken with their Atlanta hostesses. The group was one in which beauty was represented by several nations, and the occasion in every way one most distinctive.

Mrs. Ladson had receiving with her her lovely young daughters, also Miss Elizabeth Adair and Miss Susie May Pope.

She wore a black lisse gown painted in a design of roses and trimmed in black and white applique lace.

Miss Agnes Ladson wore pale blue peau de sole trimmed in lace and a necklace of amethysts.

Miss Margaret Ladson wore white lisse dotted in royal blue, and trimmed in lace.

Miss Leone Ladson wore white olga crepe showing a design in pink roses.

Among the visiting ladies, Misses Macara, Miss Tattersall of England, Mrs. J. W. Smidt of Germany, Mrs. T. Wellmamen of Germany, Madame Mabre of France, Madame Otto Onninger, Vienna; Madame Roman Macaya, Barcelona; Madame Randmitz, Mrs. Farasey, Mrs. Bruner of Philadelphia, Mrs. Woodruff of Chicago, Mrs. Hare of Cleveland, Miss Marion Crawford, the niece of the distinguished novelist.

Miss Macara wore a stylish toilet in nattier blue silk, with hat to match.

Madame Roman Macaya, whose blonde beauty is an expression of the most patrician type, was the center of admiration in her stateliness and charm. She wore a reception gown of ecrue colored silk, combined with lace and velvet the same color, and her black hat was trimmed in plumes. Her jewels were diamonds and superb emeralds.

Madame Anninger is a Viennese beauty, whose delicacy of feature and rich color suggested the miniatures old artists paint of the women of Austria. She wore a reception gown of stone blue foulard satin.

Mrs. Ladson invited about twenty-five guests besides the ladies of the social committee, who were Mrs. Hoke Smith, Mrs. Harvie Jordan, Mrs. W. P. Inman, Mrs. A. W. Calhoun, Mrs. R. D. Spalding, Mrs. George Winship, Mrs. A. B. Steele, Mrs. R. J. Lowry, Mrs. George Dexter, Mrs. W. H. Kiser, Mrs. W. A. Wimbish, Mrs. J. D. Turner, Mrs. J. K. Orr, Mrs. Charles M. Roberts, Mrs John Murphy, Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs John D. Little, Mrs. J. G. Oglesby, Mrs. E. L. Connally, Mrs. Harry Atkinson, Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Mrs. C. T. Ladson, Mrs. D. Woodward, Mrs. W. M. Nixon, Mrs. Frank S. Ellis, Mrs. Don Pardee, Mrs. Henry S. Jackson, Mrs. W. D. Raoul, Mrs. E. C. Callaway, Mrs. J. W. Pope, Mrs. Bartow Blount.

At Mrs. Peel's.

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lawson Peel was fragrant with southern roses and bright with lights when the guests arrived at her house at 4 o'clock.

They were received in the music room by Mrs. Peel, Miss Peel, Mrs. Kiser and a group of their friends, including Mrs. William D. Grant, Mrs. Edward T. Brown, Mrs. Joseph Thompson, Mrs. J. H. Porter, Mrs. Robert Alston, Mrs. Dan Harris, Mrs. Fleming duBignon, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, Miss Isma Dooly, Mrs. Charles J. Haden, Mrs. Porter King, Mrs. W. Woods White, Mrs. J. S. Barbour Thompson.

Assisting in the entertainment of the guests were the ladies of the social committee.

As the guests sat in informal groups in the music room, library and den there was delightful music and recitations. Among those contributing to the program were Mrs. Joseph Bowen, Miss Helen Crennan, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Watts, Mrs. John M. Slaton, Mrs. Thaddeus Horton, Mr. Charles J. Payne, Dr. Zoepffel-Quellenstein, Mr. MacDaniel, Mr. Armour, Mr. Arnaud, Mrs Walker Inman, Mr. Wood and Miss Fumade.

Later the guests enjoyed tea and dainty refreshments, Mrs. Horton presiding at the tea table in the dining room, where there was a continuaton of beautiful flowers in the decorations.

In the center of the table was a mound of the autumn fruits in pineapples, apples, oranges and Malaga grapes. Silver platters held sandwiches, cakes and bonbons, and old-fashioned cut glass decanters held delicous sherry. Silver candle sticks in two sizes, with shades of white and silver, completed the artistic decorative effect.

Mrs. Peel wore a reception gown of sapphire blue chiffon cloth, with trimmings of lace. Mrs. William Kiser wore a black foulard satin with white dots and a trimming of Irish lace.

Mrs. Thaddeus E. Horton wore a clear blue gown trimmed in Valenciennes lace, and the toilets of the ladies in the receiving party were distinctly elegant.

Receptions of Tonight.

The series of receptions to be given in Atlanta homes tonight to entertain the cotton spinners and the ladies of the convention will form a fittingly brilliant climax to the social program planned in honor of the visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wimbish, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kiser and Governor and Mrs. Hoke Smith will open their homes, and the visitors will go from house to house in the order named. Large receiving parties will in each instance assist the hosts, and beautiful decorations and special features of entertainment will be provided.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will serve a hot course, and this will be followed at the succeeding receptions by appropriate refreshments in orderly sequence, ending at the mansion in ices.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy there will be handsome decorations of pink roses and pink cosmos in the dining room, autumn leaves and grapes in the punch room and tropical plants and flowers everywhere. An orchestra will play the national airs of the countries represented by the visitors, and the social committee and others will assist in entertaining.

The beautiful new home of Colonel and Mrs. Wimbish will be made more attractive with elaborate decorations of growing plants and a luxury of flowers, while the colonial charm of Dr. and Mrs. Turner's residence will be artistic in its adornment, and a delightful spirit of hospitality will prevail.

At Mr. and Mrs. Kiser's home, where the conventional features of entertainment will be very handsome, an incident of interest will be the presence of "Old Aunt Nancy," who still spins cotton as she did in ante-bellum times, and who will have her spinning wheel and her cotton at hand to demonstrate and to explain her process.

At the home of Governor and Mrs. Smith the entrance porch, which is unfinished, will be decorated with the cotton bloom, and a band of pickaninnies in old-time dress will cake walk and a banjo orchestra will play. Inside the house, however, the decorations, illuminations and music will be typical of the most elegant hospitality, and the social committee and members of the judiciary, with their wives, will assist in receiving.

Mrs. Evin's Luncheon.

Mrs. Sam Evins will enterain at luncheon Friday in compliment to Miss Hortense Horne.

To Miss Pendleton.

Mrs. Henry C. Fisher gave a pretty luncheon yesterday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mayeer, in compliment to Miss Mary Pendleton, the guests including Miss Pendleton and her bridesmaids.

The table was fresh and beautiful in white and green. The centerpiece was of roses and ferns, and all the decorative details were artistic.

Mrs. Fisher was a charming hostess, and she wore a white silk gown made lingerie style over green. Miss Pendleton wore a stylish blue silk suit over a lace waist with a blue hat.

Wedding Parties.

Miss Luella Maisby will entertain at afternoon tea next Thursday, Mrs. Fisher will give a luncheon, Miss Willie May Harrison will give a card party, and Mrs. J. W. Fielder will entertain in compliment to Miss Irene Beeaumont. Mr. Harry Maisby and Mr. Ernest Duncan will give theatre parties and Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Moore will give a dinner in compliment to Miss Beaumont and Mr. Ivan Allen.

Mr. Goodrum's Dinner.

One of the handsomest of the parties in honor of Miss Hortense Horne and Mr. Albert Adams, whose wedding is being anticipated by a number of delightful entertainments, was the dinner given Saturday night by Mr. J. J. Goodrum in his apartments at the Wilelmo.

The table seated sixteen and it had for its centerpiece a large bowl of pink roses. Garlands of smilax were caught to the chandelier and drawn to each place, and the place cards were handpainted Cupids. Corsage bouquets for the ladies were of pink roses, and there were boutonnieres for the men. The dinner was an elegant one, and the ices were served in miniature trunks, which formed appropriate souvenirs of the occasion.

Miss Horne wore a becoming white gown and carried an armful of American Beauty roses.

Mr. Goodrum's guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Roby Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Miss Horne, Miss Constance Knowles, Miss Elizabeth Adair, Miss Florence Jackson, Miss Kate Robinson, Miss Harrie Stockdell, Mr. Clarence Ruse, Mr. Dowell Brown, Mr. Percy Adams, Mr. Shepard Bryan and Mr. Albert Adams.

Afternoon Tea.

The Misses Heifner will give a large afternoon tea on Friday at their home in West End in compliment to Miss Arlene Almand. Two hundred and fifty guests are invited and their entertainment will be tasteful and beautiful.

Misses Julia and Ollie Purser will serve punch, Misses Bessie and Myrtle Hancock will serve ices and assisting in the entertainment of the guests will be:

Mrs. A. R. Colcord, Mrs. O. H. B. Blood, Mrs. Harlinan, Mrs. W. A. Byers, Mrs. Thomas Pitts, Mrs. W. B. Disbro, Mrs. Seay, Mrs. Thomas Stokes, Mrs. White, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. M. B. White, Mrs. G. J. Dallas, Mrs. Leon Walker, Mrs. Joseph Drewry, Mrs. McHan, Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Davies, Mrs. Kennerly, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. W. A. Foster.

Success of Exchange.

The opening days of the woman's exchange at the Young Woman's Christian Association last week were most successful, and the work promises a complete fulfillment of Atlanta's need for such an institution.

Shirt waists, lingerie, baby clothes and various kinds of hand work, as well as pickles, preserves, cakes, and a variety of delicacies were placed with the exchange, and the general interest manifested in the display indicated that the Atlanta women are going to show by regular patronage their appreciation of the new enterprise.

Its value to the members of the exchange and to the customers will be mutual, and this feature of the association will doubtless prove one of its most popular undertakings.

To Bridal Party.

Miss Constance Knowles will entertain at luncheon at the Piedmont Driving Club, in compliment to Misss Katherine Gholstin and her bridesmaids.

Luncheon to Miss Horne.

Miss Constance Knowles will give a small luncheon at the Piedmont Driving Club on Monday next in compliment to Miss Hortense Horne.

Surprise Party.

An enjoyable affair of the past week was a surprise party, given to Misses Loma and Etta Lee Calvert by their friends at their home on Whitehall street.

Music and games were played and dainty refreshments were served. About thirty guests were assembled.

Home Missionary Society.

The Woman's Home Mission Society of Grace church is observing the week of prayer this week. Services are held every afternoon at 3 o'clock. The main items on the program for Tuesday afternoon are:

Devotional—Mrs. W. S. Featherstone.

"Working Conditions of Women and Children in the United States"—Miss Dolly Crim.

Solo—Mrs. D. W. Yarbrough.

When They Know It All.

(From The New York Post.)

The proud father includes among his boasts the following school essay of his young hopeful:

"A horse gets up by giving a sudden jump to its front legs and then gets on its hind legs.

"A cow drinks by putting its mouth in the bucket and sucks the water.

"A duck picks up the food by its bill, then throws his head back.

"Maple leaves begin to bloom about the 1st of May.

"A locomotive while going around a corner bends very much to the inside.

"A passenger train when about to stop the wheels of the locomotive stop revolving and slides along the tracks.

"A locomotive has to be very much heavier than the train to overcome the weight of the train against it. Because when a body gets a-moving it has a tendency to keep moving."

FUNERAL OF MRS. M. HIRSCH

Services Were Conducted Yesterday Afternoon at 3 O'Clock at the Residence.

Funeral services of Mrs. Maurice Hirsch, who died suddenly Sunday night at her apartments in the Frederick, were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the residence. Burial was in Oakland cemetery.

The death of Mrs. Hirsch was very unexpected, for she awoke from her sleep about midnight, and expired within thirty minutes, without being able to secure a physician.

She leaves a husband, her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Liebman; two brothers, A. F. and Milton Liebman, and three sisters, Mrs. M. Roseberg and Mrs. Joe Gershon, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Gilbert Strauss, of Baltimore.

FIFTEEN CARS DERAILED.

Engineer and Fireman Also Hurt in a Wreck on the Southern.

Lavonia, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—One of the most serious wrecks that has occurred on the Elberton branch of the Southern railroad occurred when extra freight, No. 158, went into a ditch, derailing fifteen cars and turning four cars and the tender2 completely over. Engineer Frank Haney and Fireman Joe Jenkins were badly hurt, the former having three ribs broken, while Jenkins was bruised about the head and hips, also having a deep cut on the face. A negro brakeman, who was on top, was badly bruised.

Engineer Haney and Fireman Jenkins were brought to the city, where they were given medical attention by Dr. Freeman.

Doubt.

(From Puck.)

"Before we were married you told me you were well off."

"So I did. I remember distinctly telling you that."

"You lied, then?"

"That would be a question in casuistry. I was well off, all right, but I didn't know it."

"Women must be careful how they put in their puffs," said the adept in hair dressing. "They must be properly confined, and not look as if they had been thrown at the lady's head and stuck.

"They must be fluffy, and not fuzzy; smooth but not stiff, and placed irregularly, not upright and soldierly."

For evening wear a favored mode is to wear the crown braid around the back of the head and the puffs to the point back of the pompadour, the empire comb giving the finishing touch.

But unless madame arranges her hair with a view to wearing her new picture hat with the broad brim in the back, then the crown braid is worn to the front, back of the pompadour and the puffs are so arranged as to show under the back of the hat.

FROZEN DESSERTS

As long as hot weather continues, frozen desserts of whatever nature will take the place of hot puddings and pies. Homemade creams, sherbets, mousses, and ices are superior to the boughten articles, and may be easily and quickly made at much less cost. All sorts of patent freezers are on the market, each claiming to do the other. One can make very fine cream or mousse by the aid of an ordinary pail, a wooden spoon and a watertight tin or mould. Place the whipped cream, which has been slightly sweetened, in the chilled watertight mould, and put this in the pail, filling and surrounding with finely chopped ice and rock salt, used in proportions of three of ice to one of salt. Allow this to stand for an hour and then uncover, scraping the frozen cream from the sides, and with a wooden spoon stir several times; repack quickly as at first and allow to remain for about two hours.

Mousses are made without the aid of a dasher or constant churning. In serving frozen desserts, make them as attractive as possible. Either small punch glasses or slender wide-rimmed sherbet glasses may be effectively garnished after they have been filled with maraschino cherries, ripe berries, crystallized fruits or nuts. Chopped pecans are a great improvement in plain vanilla ice cream. Another combination is two cupfuls of finely broken macaroons, that have been moistened with sherry wine. Cold cream tapioca served in sherbet glasses with a deep layer of frozen whipped cream is delicious.

THE COUNTESS OF WARWICK

So much has been said of the presence in America of that fascinating and versatile of English women, Frances Evelyn Grenless, countess of Warwick that it may be interesting to rehearse some of her lines of activity beside those of the grande dame and leader of societ.

The countess is widely known in England as a philanthropis and social betterment worker. She is poor law guardian, founder of a hospital at Reading, in connection with a college for training the daughters of professional men in rural avocations; patron of a science and technical school for boys and girls in the rural district of Essex; founder of a home for cripples at Warwick, and president of the Essex Needlework Guild. At both Warwick castle and Easton lodge she has a complete organization for the poor and sick..

STRANGER THAN FICTION

She was a pretty little nurse, and he a gray old millionaire;
They brought him to her ward because his system was in bad repair.

Day after day she came and went, with footsteps light as flakes of snow;
With cool, soft hands she touched his brow his every wish she seemed to know.

If he had been a dimpled babe and she his mother young and glad,
His treatment never could have been more tender than the care he had.

Her eyes were deep and dark and soft, her face an artist would have praised;
Whenever she went tripping past the sick ones turned and gladly gazed.

The rich man's ills grew less and less,
and so the doctors came one day
And looked him over and declared 'twas time for him to go away.

He rose and went, well pleased, indeed, that he was once more well and strong;
But strange to say he didn't take the pretty little nurse along.

P. S.—Perhaps it ought to be explained that he—the grizzled millionaire—
Was married when they put him in the pretty little nurse's care.

—S. E. Kiser in Chicago Record-Herald.

There was a time not so very long ago when this little poem had a point, but at present the slight circumstance mentioned in the last stanza would have been no obstacle to the marriage of the grizzled millionaire" to the "pretty little nurse." By the way, I wonder why it ever was funny in Chicago?

A SILLY YOUNG WOMAN

A young woman stenographer has taken the prize offered by a St. Louis business men's association for the best suggestion for the improvement of that city. Her suggestion is this: "Take the lid off. Let it stay off forever. Permit racing, saloons and all that will help bring business here instead of driving it away. Let all business keep and night, Sunday and every day. It will give employment to many and increase revenue for St. Louis." It is the most charitable judgment to pass upon this frivolous creature to say that she must be very young and giddy.—Arizona Republican.

Of course, of course, "Silly young woman!" But not a word about the business men who award her the prize! Are they to be excused because of youth and giddiness?

Has it not been thus since the days when Adam declared that the woman did tempt him?

WOMAN DELEGATE

Mrs. Jane Bancroft Robinson has been chosen by the Methodists of Detroit to head their delegation to the next general conference. It is the first time that a woman has been selected for such a position, but on the very first ballot Mrs. Robinson received a much larger vote than any of the other lay delegates. She was the orignator of the deaconess movement in America, is president of the National Women's Home Missionary Society and active in local church and cheritable work.

SOLDIERS OF SEVENTEENTH START PRACTICE MARCH

With a youngster sitting on a nearby fence singing: "Onward Seventeenth Soldiers, Marching as to War," two companies, K and M, of that regiment, under the command of Captain Huguet, left the post yesterday at noon, bound for a twenty-one days' practice march to Macon and beyond.

The men were all loaded down with 75 pounds of "excess baggage," for the regulations require that this practice march shall be the same as if the men were going to engage in actual warfare.

Each man was required to carry in addition to his gun and belt his blanket roll, poncho, knapsack filled with his changes, his dog tent and canteen.

NEGRO WOMAN KILLED SELF

Suicided Because Husband Stayed Out Late at Night.

Augusta, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Claude Cooper, a negro woman living on a rented farm in this county, committed suicide early Sunday morning by shooting herself through the heart because her husband, Joseph Cooper, insisted on staying out late at night.

Coroner W. A. Ramsey was notified and proceeded to the scene, where an inquest was held. In some quarters slight suspicion was harbored against Joseph Cooper, but the evidence at the inquest sustained the suicide theory and exonorated the husband of any crime.

From the testimony it seems that Claude Cooper lay awake Saturday night, awaiting her spouse, who did not come. In the early morning hours Joseph crept in, but could give no satisfactory account of his wanderings to his enraged wife. She lectured him soundly on his lack of regard for her feelings, and tried to elicit from him a promise that he would come in early hereafter. Getting no satisfactory response, she became desperate and rushed to the mantelpiece, seized a pistol and turned it to her own breast.

200 STRIKE-BREAKERS ARRIVE AT NEW ORLEANS

At the First Sign of Violence Governor Blanchard Will Call Out the State Troops.

New Orleans, October 7.—About two hundred strike breakers were brought here today and put to work by the Illinois Central railroad at the Stuyvesant docks, loading cotton.

The levee strikers, who now number about 10,000, remained away from the loading districts. Guards were, however, maintained about the big Stuyvesant docks of the Illinois Central and at other points.

Governor Blanchard, after a day spent in investigating the situation, announced that the state troops would be called out at first sign of violence, but that at present the militia is not needed. More strike breakers are due from the north tomorrow.

STEWARD OF GOD ALMIGHTY ROCKEFELLER CALLS SELF

New York, October 7.—John D. Rockefeller's private conception of himself, that he is only the steward of the Standard Oil wealth, responsible to God alone for his stewardship, was quoted Sunday by the Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, the pastor of Calvary Baptist church, before his young people's class. Dr. MacArthur said:

"A few years ago some one asked Mr. Rockefeller privately why it was since he had such a tremendous fortune and his tastes were so simple that he could not possibly use one-tenth of his income that he did not retire. Mr. Rockefeller then made a reply which he did not intend should be made public, and which gives an attitude of his mind never before appreciated by the public.

"'I am the trustee of the property of others,' he said, 'through the providence of God committed to my care. I am the steward of vast interests belonging in great part to widows and orphans and others who are actually or relatively poor. For this holding I am responsible to God. Were I to give up my interest in the Standard Oil Company I would imperil the interests of these poor, according to the popular supposition that my withdrawal would hurt the company's business. Therefore, I feel it my duty to God and to the people whose money is invested in my company to continue in its welfare.'"

Dr. MacArthur said his quotation was authentic and he intimated that he himself was one who had heard Mr. Rockefeller so characterize his position in the world.

SCHEME CARRIED FOR ARBITRATION

Anglo-American Project Approved by Peace Congress Committee.

The Hague, October 7.—The entire Anglo-American project providing for obligatory arbitration was approved at this evening's session of the committee on arbitration by 31 votes to 9. The opponents of the measure were Germany, Austria-Hungary, Switzerland, Belgium, Roumania, Greece, Turkey, Bulgaria and Montenegro. Italy, Japan and Luxembourg refrained from voting, and one delegate was absent.

PURVIS WAS KILLED BY GIN

Arm Was Caught and His Face Drawn Up to Gin.

Dublin, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—A horrible accident has been reported from near Arthur, about 25 miles below Dublin, in this county. Willis Purvis was so badly injured in a gin that death resulted. He was ginning cotton for Melvin Purvis. In some way his right hand being caught, his arm was drawn into the gin up to the right shoulder. Purvis' head was drawn so close to the saws that his right chek was cut in a number of places. As soon as possible the gin was stopped and an effort made to extricate the unfortunate man.

It took several men two hours to get Purvis' arm from the gin. He was given prompt medical attention, but the shock and loss of blood was so great that death resulted. He was about 50 years of age and was a hard working man. He is survived by a wife and several children.

POST ATTACKS LABOR UNIONS

In Address to National Citizens' Industrial Association.

Battle Creek, Mich., October 7.—The convention of the National Citizens' Industrial Association opened here today. The feature of the opening meeting was the address by President C. W. Post, of this city. Mr. Post took strong grounds against labor unions and the closed shop. He said:

"It is manifestly a much greater restraint of trade, annoyance and loss to the people for the labor trust leaders to tie up a railway and prevent travel and shipments than it is for the oil trust to obtain from the railway rebates not enjoyed by its competitors, for the last is simply a peaceful scrap beween business men. We have laws to punish these men who bring disaster, loss and suffering upon an entire community and we must demand action by our public prosecuting officers in such cases."

Fire Did Not Explode This Oil.

Dublin, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—An unusual occurrence has been reported by Nelson Wood, of this city, agent of the Standard Oil Company. A few days ago a negro store near the river was destroyed by fire. Mr. Wood delivered to the negro 50 gallons of kerosene oil the day before the fire. After the fire Mr. Wood examined the oil tank and was pumped from the tank and resolt. The oil was pumped from the ank and resold. The oil was the only thing saved from the fire. Just why the oil did not explode seems a mystery.

$1.000 IN JEWELRY FOR MASONIC LEADER

Judge John Wilkinson Has Been Presented With Eleventh Piece of Masonic Jewelry.

Judge John R. Wilkinson, a thirty-third degree Mason, one of the four in Georgia, has been presented with the eleventh piece of Masonic jewelry, which goes to make up his collection and which brings their value up to over $1,000.

The latest addition to his great collection—and he has more than any other Mason in the state—was given him on Thursday night when he was presented with the jewel of the Knight Commander of the Court of Honor, set in a Russian leather case.

This is a heavy solid gold pendant showing a cross surrounded by a wreath in which there nestles on the center a solitaire. The case is lined with white silk and is very handsome.

It was only a couple of weeks ago that Judge Wilkinson was presented with a solid gold watch fob, the insignia of his thirty-third degree office.

The other jewels which he prizes so highly are the jewel of the past master of Gate City Lodge No. 2, the jewel of the past high priest of Mt. Zion Royal Arch Chapter, jewel of the past thrice illustrious master of Jason Burr Royal and Select Masons, the jewel of the past eminent commander of the Atlanta Commandery Knights Templar, the jewel of recorder of Yaarab Temple, the triangle, the Royal Order of Scotland, the star and garter and a thirty-third degree ring.

WROTE INSULTING NOTE TO A YOUNG WOMAN

George Hays Fined on Complaint of Miss Ruby Thompson.

George T. Hays, a painter, who lives on Tumlin street, was fined $25 by Recorder Broyles yesterday morning for being implicated in the sending of an insulting note to Miss Ruby Thompson, of 339 Marietta street.

One day last week Miss Thompson, who is a very pretty brunette, received a note, which was carried to her home by a man, and the note was signed with George T. Hays' name, and requested her to meet him at the Bethel hotel, on Madison avenue. Miss Thompson did not answer the note, and the next day it was turned over to the police authorities.

It was proven that the note was written in a Greek restaurant, by a young man who was with Hays, and that Hays knew about it.

Hays contended that he did not know the young man used his name. He said that the man remarked something about writing a note to Miss Thompson.

Miss Thompson said that she was acquainted with Hays, who is a married man.

The other man in the case, it was stated in court, had left the city.

Recorder Broyles said the evidence showed that Hays knew all about the note, and was equally as guilty as the man who did the writing. Hays paid the fine and was released.

MURDERED AND ROBBED.

The Body of a Man Is Found Near Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, October 7.—The body of a man was found today near Big Four crossing of the Carthage pike, on the outskirts of this city, with two holes in his left temple and other indications of murder and robbery. A card issued by a tailors' union at Springfield, Ohio, to J. J. Hector, a letter to the same name from the tailors' union of Montgomery, Ala., and two bank books, one in the name of C. O. Nance, by the First National bank, of Bloomington, Ind., and the other by the Crawford County bank, of Robinson, Ill., in the name of Harry O. Nance, tended to confuse the identity of the man, whose pockets had been emptied of all money and valuables.

FIRST MARRIAGE OF DAVIS

No Record of Wedding of Confederate President Other Than License.

Louisville, Ky., October 7.—There is no record of the first marriage of Jefferson Davis, who was president of the Confederate states, other than a marriage license, which was issued in Louisville on June 17, 1835, to Mr. Davis and Sarah Knox Taylor. The minister who performed the ceremony neglected to certify the fact.

The disclosure was made today following an investigation of a request made by Professor Walter L. Fleming, of Baton Rouge, La.

The affidavit made in connection with Miss Taylor's age was sworn to by Hancock Taylor. The bride was a daughter of Zachary Taylor, who was a colonel in the army at the time of her marriage, and who subsequently became president of the United States.

TRUST OIL FORCED ON ROADS

At Higher Prices Than They Were Paying the Standard's Rival—New York Rival of the Standard Saw Its Business Taken Away.

New York, October 7.—The difficulties of the New York Lubricating Oil Company in its fight with the Standard for the business of lubricating throughout the United States was related today by Phillip Harrison, of the New York Lubricating Oil Company, when the hearing began.

Mr. Harrison said that the Vacuum Oil Company, previous to 1894, manufactured lubricating oil, but that it made an agreement with the Standard whereby it turned all of its lubricating business over to the Galena Signal Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Standard. The witness said that his company made a contract with the Louisville and Nashville railroad in 1903 to supply the road with lubricating oil. On the expiration of the contract President Milton H. Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, refused to renew it, but would give no reason.

Mr. Kellogg then placed in evidence the statement of the Galena Signal Oil Company, showing that the Louisville and Nashville, at the expiration of the contract with the New York Lubricating Company, made a contract with the Galena at a higher rate than that paid the New York company. Mr. Harrison said President Smith had stated in a letter that the oils of the New York Lubricating Oil Company were entirely satisfactory. Mr. Harrison said that the Galena agents went to President Smith and told him that the Standard was shipping a large amount of oil on the Louisville and Nashville, and that the road should give the contract to the Galena.

"President Smith told the Galena agents that he was not paying rebates in that way," said Mr. Harrison.

Mr. Harrison testified that the New York Lubricating Oil Company had a contract with the Central of Georgia railroad and that the Galena obtained contracts with the two railroads at prices, which, he said, he understood were higher than the prices of the New York Lubricating Oil Company.

EXTRA DIVIDEND DECLARED

The Great Northern Seems to Be Doing Pretty Well.

New York, October 7.—Announcement of an extra dividend of one and one-half per cent declared by the directors of the Great Northern Railway company was made today. It was announced that the funds for the dividend are derived from the Lake Superior company and come, not from the ore lands which that company leased to the United States Steel corporation, but from other of its holdings, such as coal lands and express companies stock.

MADISON VOTES FOR BONDS

Not a Vote Was Cast Against $50,000 Bond Issue.

Madison, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Madson today voted in favor of the issuance of $50,000 of bonds for waterworks, sewerage and improvement of the electric light system of the city.

Not a vote was cast against bonds.

The city has the promise of great things under Mayor Butler's administration.

THE FIRST RAIL WAS LAID

Rail Laying Begins on Extension of Chattahoochee Valley.

West Point, Ga., October 7.—(Special.) The first rail was laid and the first spike driven on the 35-mile extension of the Chattahoochee Valley railroad, and the work on the road will be pushed forward at a rapid rate until the terminus, which is Texas, Heard county, Georgia, is reached, which it is expected will be the 1st of January, 1908.

QUAKER TAKES CANDY ON DOPING BASEBALL

Of latter day prophets, one Edward Hyneman, of Philadelphia, a wealthy wine merchant, takes the candy. About a year ago, or to be exact, on the day following the game in which the White Sox wrested the world's championship from the Cubs, he made three bets, good stout ones, and has already cashed in two of them.

The first was $1,000 to $750 that the Cubs would win the National League rag in 1907. That bet was settled some time ago.

The second was $1,000 to $600 that the White Sox would not win the American League pennant in 1907. Detroit won that one for him the other day.

The other was that the Cubs would win the world's championship of 1907. The end of the week, in all probability, will see whether he made good on his last one.

Chicago Fans Think This Bunch Can Sink Detroit With All Ease.

AUBURN TOOK SNAPPY GAME

Maryville Held Alabamans to a Score of 29 to 0.

Auburn, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—Auburn defeated the Maryville bunch this afternoon by the score of 29 to 0. Considering the weather and field the game was fast and snappy. Auburn's first touchdown was made the first two minutes of play, Hughes carrying the ball over, Reynolds missing goal.

The second touchdown came in a very few minutes after the first one, Hughes carrying the ball over again, Reynolds kicking goal.

Maryville kicked off to Auburn, McCoy receiving the ball on the 20-yard line, making a spectacular run of 90 yards for a touchdown. Reynolds kicking goal. The first half ended with the score of 17 to 0 in Auburn's favor.

In the second half Auburn carried the ball to the 10-yard line, losing it to Maryville. Maryville tried to punt the ball out of danger, but Everett broke through, blocked the kick and falling on it over the goal. Reynolds kicked goal.

Auburn's last touchdown was made about ten minutes later, when Harris made a run of about 40 yards for this one, Reynolds kicking goal. This ended the game. Both teams played good ball. The line-up was as follows:

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Tom Fisher, manager of the 1906 Shreveport team, says he will make an effort to get his draft by the St. Louis Browns lifted, and if so will manage the Pirates next season. What's the use? Or maybe the Pirates will have a team in the Cotton States next year or some other organization smaller than the Southern. Shreveport seems to be out of the Southern if this Mobile franchise dope is straight.

The Navy football team showed great strength in her first serious game with Dickinson on Saturday. Captain Douglas, the old Tennessee boy, was in the battle for awhile and made several good gains. He had his leg broken during his first year at the academy and it is reported to be good and strong for the first time since the accident happened. Vanderbilt plays this Navy team on Saturday.

Bill Squires, the grapefruit man from Australia, threatens to come east for some six-round grueling matches. Wouldn't be a bad idea to "stick" him onto Al Kaufmann. That ought to be a slamfest worth piping at. As a heavyweight Bill is about as formidable as the navy of Switzerland, but then he can take a sonk, and that counts some.

In an attempt to solve the line problem at Harvard the football coaches have moved Captain Parker from center to left guard and have substituted for him Grant, a man hardly known to Harvard athletics. Burr, the veteran guard, has been moved to left tackle, but is lacking in experience. Parker has been tried at guard in former years, but has never filled the position in a big game. Grant is light or a 'varsity center, and has only aggressiveness in his favor.

A Telephone Newspaper.
(From The Baltimore Sun.)

In America comparatively little is known of the "telephone newspaper," which enjoys much popularity at Budapest, Hungary. Nothing of the kind has been tried as yet in this country, though to be sure in a private way more than many columns of gossip go over the wires every day.

At Budapest a regularly organized company which has a staff of more than 200 persons delivers the news by wire instead of by paper. A receiver will be put in a residence or place of business without charge and the news delivered for but 2 cents a day. In Budapest more than 15,000 houses enjoy the "telefon-hirmondo," as it is called.

From 8 o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night eight loud-voiced stentors shout the editor's "copy" between a pair of immense microphones, whence it is carried by wire to all parts of the city to be heard through telephone receivers. All kinds of news is thus sent out, just such as occurs in the daily papers—telegrams, political speeches, weather forecasts, etc. Furthermore, at stated hours concerts are heard by the subscribers, and they can sit at dinner or at cards and enjoy the best music in the city, as arrangements are made whereby the recitals at the opera house are received by microphones and transmitted. Preachers, lecturers and speakers generally speak to the public, also. The exact time of each news item is strictly regulated, so that a person always knows at what hour a certain class of news will be delivered, and he can listen or not as he chooses.

Special concerts for children are given once a week; and the service is extended to the hospitals and asylums where the sick and blind can hear. The owners of the system are pleased with it, as the cost of typesetting, printing and paper is entirely eliminated.

MANY MOGULS SURPRISED WHEN TIGERS WON PENNANT

A few weeks ago the baseball world was very much excited over the question: Who will win the American League pennant? and at that time a whole bunch of big league managers turned loose some dope and not one of them came out with the statement that the Tigers would finish first. The Athletics were favored by the most of them, and even the White Sox got a little more in the dope as the real coppers.

Here are some statements made on the going several weeks ago by well-known baseball leaders:

Fred Clarke, Pittsburg—I pick the Athletics to win. Mack is a great manager. He has won a number of pennants and is fully capable of repeating.

Clarke Griffith, New York—The Philadelphia pitchers are strong enough to carry the team along, and thus it seems to me that only an unforeseen slump or some accident can beat them out of the race.

James McGuire, Boston—The Athletics are in great shape at present, and I can't see how they can lose. Mack's pitchers are holding all opponents to few hits.

Edward Hanlon, Cincinnati—I think it is a toss-up. The Athletics have a schedule advantage, but they have to meet two strong opponents in Detroit and Cleveland. My sympathies lie with Jennings, because I know what a brainy leader he is through personal experience.

John J. McGraw, New York—I have favored Chicago right along The Athletics seem to be working under a strain. Mack banks too much on his left-handers, and I don't think they will last.

Fielder Jones, Chicago—I figure the Athletics the only team we will have to beat out. Mack took the series from us, but we haven't been put out of the race. We have an even chance and are sure to finish one-two. The games we play in Boston and the brief series in the west are going to count greatly.

Napoleon Lajoie, Cleveland—The odds are now against us, although three weeks ago I was confident we would finish in the lead. We have played well, but the percentage of victories was against us. We may not win the pennant, but we may make or break the Athletics or Detroit.

CUB PITCHERS WILL WIN SAYS MANAGER CHANCE

Frank Chance, manager of the Cubs, who meet Detroit in the first game of the world's series today, says that he has the greatest pitching staff in the universe and that it can be played to beat the Tigers out. Chance is of the opinion that if he did not have a bunch of heavy hitters, fast fielders and fleet base runners, he would still believe that he had a better chance for the highest baseball honors in the world than the Tigers. And all because of his pitching staff.

Chance says that people talk of the greatness of "Wild Bill" Donovan, but that he does not believe that he is as good as either Overall or Brown.

Here is some more Chance dope on that slab corps:

"Today I would not exchange my pitching staff for that of any club in organized baseball. More than that, I would not exchange it for any pitching staff that ever existed. We thought we had a great staff last year, but it is no comparison to that of today.

"Overall has developed until today I would not exchange him for any pitcher in the world.

"Reulbach is better than he ever was, and they are all good.

"Now, what other club has such an array of pitchers? Certainly not Detroit. They have one great slab artist, 'Wild Bill' Donovan. But he is not the pitcher that Overall is. No baseball critic will hold that the remainder of the Detroit staff is as strong as the other pitchers on the Chicago team.

"If we do not win it will not be in the fault of our pitchers. Of that I am certain."

PLAN A COLONIAL DRILL FOR COMING HORSE SHOW

As the time for the horse show approaches the directors and others interested in the show will be about the busiest lot of men in the city. From this time on until October 15, when the show opens, executive committee meetings will be held every day at noon in order to get through with the mass of detail work which comes up daily.

At the meeting held yesterday J. W. Patterson was appointed to look after the ring. He will be assisted by E. R. DuBose and James R. Nunnally. Manager Ryley will have charge of the paddock forces.

Badges for the directors and stockholders of the association have arrived, and can be had of Nym McCollough.

One of the attractive features of the show will be the colonial drill, which will be participated in by a number of young society folk of Atlanta. They will be dressed in colonial costumes, with wigs and powder and patches, and will add materially to the attractiveness of the show.

Another feature will be the gyankana races. These are games which originated in India, and were first played by the British troops. There will be potato races, egg races, watermelon races and animal races. All are expected to prove very interesting to the children.

Entries to the show will close tomorrow, and Frank Stewart is now in Macon securing entries, but will return to Atlanta today. The Atlanta entries are showing up better than at any horse show ever held in Atlanta, and the number of Atlanta horses will be very large.

NEVER BOOST CHANCES ON A FOOTBALL CONTEST

Football in its entirety is a remarkable game. Athletics primarily were for the purpose of physical development and for the dishing out of amusement to the athletes and what spectators might gather to take a look at the particular branch of sport that was going on.

But in this age of hurry and progression, which go hand and hand, the financial feature is of great importance—in everything save football. They are willing to take the money all right to pay the coaches, and finance the team in the many necessary ways, but at times this dwindles into a minor consideration.

College spirit carries with it so much of the fire and ardor of youth that with the players and student followers for the team to win the game, or all of them if possible, is the chief end. Therefore there are many college coaches, captains and players who, when asked what the team's chances are for taking a certain battle, say, "It looks pretty gloomy. You see our bunch is on the bum strictly; we weight only about 120 pounds (when in truth the average is close on to 180), so and so and so and so has a bum ankle, knee or something just as bad, and while we may win, the going hasn't any rosy lights strewn along the way."

Now in other sporting events the promoter will hand out something like this, "Sure, it's going to be the swellest ever, a good hard fight, with us the one best bet. Our team (or man or whatever he happens to be backing) is in the pink of condition and has it all over this would-be in form. Anyway, you'll get your money's worth. It won't do to miss it."

In fact they are after the crowd, and in order to get it draw an optimistic picture of what is about to be, with everything just as it should be, the combatants in good condition and all that—a most glorious outlook for an interesting struggle.

But it's the game they are after most in football, not the crowd—that comes next. The idea in reporting the team weak is to catch the other people unawares, have them expecting an easy thing, only to stack up against something good and hot.

That's the idea, but does it always work? Underrating the strength, weight, etc., of a football team these days hardly makes the other people believe that it has one foot in the cemetery, because that dope has become stale. The opposing coach and players hardly swallow this wedge of gloom, yet it is turned loose season after season by many teams.

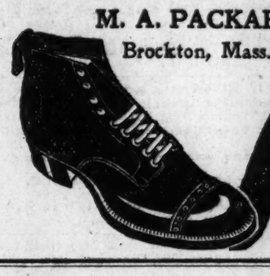

After all it works in some fashion. Advertising a bum team, and advertising is what it is—the best advertisement a team can have is a press notice—never keeps the enthusiasts away from the game. They flock to it in just such numbers as they would if a great event were promised.

However, it is rather strange that the colleges never boost their own game.

STATE CAN'T PAY PASSAGE MONEY

Attorney General Bonaparte Makes Ruling on Immigration.

Washington, October 7.—Attorney General Bonaparte has rendered an opinion in an important case involving the right of a state to solicit immigration from a foreign country.

He holds, that in the case submitted to him, the state violated the immigration laws in paying the passage money of the immigrant, and that, in this respect the state does not differ, in law, from an individual.

The case in point has been pending before the department of commerce and labor since August 5. On that date Geronimo Garcia arrived in New Orleans from Cuba. By special board of inquiry at the former place he was denied admission to the United States. The investigation developed the fact that his passage money had been paid by Reginald Dykers, an agent of the Louisiana state board of agriculture and immigration, out of funds regularly appropriated by the state legislature. He was given assurance that employment as a farm labrorer would be secured for him and he promised to return to the state the money advanced to him to pay his passage from Havana to New Orleans. No employer was selected for him, but he was left free to work for whom he pleased.

The case was brought by the state of Louisiana to test the immigration law. Several other southern states were interested in the matter, because they had been engaged in soliciting immigration to points within their borders.

Promises of Employment.

The attorney general's opinion says:

"The assurance given to Garcia by the state agents constitute, in my opinion, promises for employment within the inhibition of the statute. While it is provided that aliens coming to this country in consequence of advertisments by a state or its inducements to immigration shall not be treated as coming under promise of employment, there is no exception in favor of a state in reference to specific promises of employment to individual immigrants, such as were held out to Garcia by the representatives of the state board."

The attorney general holds, therefore, "that on account of assurances of employment that were given to Garcia as an inducement to his immigration he should be excluded from admission."

It is expected that the state of Louisiana will carry the case into the courts in order to obtain a judicial determination of the question which means much. In the view of the authorities, to all of the states of the south.

INSURANCE MEN FIGHT FOR DELAY

Five High Officials Are Arraigned for Trial in New York.

New York, October 7.—Efforts of counsel for five insurance officials indicted as the result of the legislative insurance investigation, to secure further delay of their cases, met with opposition on the part of District Attorney Jerome before Justice Dowling, in the criminal branch of the supreme court, today. The officials under indictment are: John R. Hegeman, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company; George W. Perkins and Charles S. Fairchild, formerly of the New York Life, and Walter R. Gillette and Robert A. Grannis, ex-vice presidents of the Mutual Life.

Moved to Dismiss Indictments.

Motions were made by attorneys for the defendants asking that the indictments against their clients be dismissed. They stated, however, that they were not prepared to argue such motions, and asked that a further delay of two or three weeks be granted in which to prepare the cases.

Mr. Jerome insisted that the motions should be argued by Monday next. The attorneys, he said, had had from four to eight months in which to prepare their arguments, and every consideration had been extended them. The motions, he said, practically call for the dismissals of the indictments on the ground that they have not been found in accordance with procedure or that they were found on illegal evidence. The court granted Mr. Jerome's request that he be permitted to answer oral arguments in brief form, attorneys making such arguments to furnish him w... a printed transcript.

Case of George Perkins.

Counsel for John Hegeman, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, asked for a delay of two or three weeks. The district attorney opposed granting the request, and the case was set down for next Monday. When the case of George W. Perkins, former vice president of the New York Life, was called a plea of not guilty, which had been entered, was withdrawn, and a motion was made that the pending indictments be dismissed. Arguments on the motion will be heard on October 16, as also will arguments on a similar motion made in behalf of Charles S. Fairchild, a former official of the New York Life.

It was agreed that arguments be made in the case of Robert A. Grannis, also former vice president of the Mutual, on October 14 and 21.

60 CANDIDATES WORK AT TECH

Coach Heisman Had an Unusually Large Bunch of Candidates Yesterday.

Tech had a great bunch of candidates out yesterday, over sixty men taking the field under Coach Heisman for a good hard practice. While the team as arranged Saturday afternoon proved a formidable combination, the next battle will probably see several changes which will affect the back field and ends.

Wilcox, considered one of the best backs in the country, has passed his examinations and is eligible to play on the team. He is touted to make the eleven. Captain Sweet, who has been working out at end, may be shoved behind the line. There are three good men who could take his place—Adamson, Jones and Hill, the last-named showing well at this job in the contest with Dahlonega.

Coach Heisman is well pleased with the work of those who performed Saturday, and especially with that of Buchanan, whom he considers one of the most promising quarters he has ever seen in action.

Tennessee is hot after Tech this year and will bring a strong representation to Atlanta. The Knoxville bunch is said to be better than they have been in many seasons. Lee Wert, the ex-Tech man, is in the line and is reported as playing a swell game.

SHORT STORIES OF LOCAL FIELD

THE COLORED BRANCH OF THE Y. M. C. A. began a night school in the Storrs school building on Houston street last night, a room having been granted there for that purpose by the board of education. The enrollment was thirty-nine. The secretary expects one hundred during the term.

CLARENCE MA...N, THE NEGRO driver who ran over Henry Strickland, the deaf mute, Saturday night, was allowed his freedom by Judge Broyles yesterday afternoon on the grounds that he was not to blame. There were some twelve or fourteen witnesses in the court room, all of them testifying Martin was not at fault.

ON NEXT FRIDAY AT 12 O'CLOCK A lecture will be given at the Ira street public school by Judge Robert L. Rodgers, by invitation. The subject will be on the "Campaign from Cumberland Gap to Tybee" in the civil war.

THERE WILL BE A CALLED MEETING of the Fulton county superior court grand jury on Thursday morning, when ten or more cases will be turned over to this body for consideration. Assistant Solicitor John Monaghan was yesterday busy sending out notices to this effect and serving subpenas for witnesses to be present. This work is preparatory to Judge L. S. Roan convening his court for the October term on the following Monday, October 14.

THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT of appeals for the fifth judicial circuit opened yesterday morning for the fall tearm, Judges Pardee, Shelby and Burns presiding, Clerk Charles H. Lednum being in attendance.

A VOLUNTARY PETITION IN BANKruptcy was yesterday lodged with the clerk of the United States court by Charles S. Wheeler, of Atlanta. The petitioner says he is a shipping clerk, and places his liabilities at $531.26. No assets were shown.

NEGRO BUTCHER ARRESTED

He Is Charged With the Murder of Edward Moye.

Brunswick, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—On a warrant sworn to by T. R. Henderson, of Blackshear, D. B. Pyles, a well-known negro butcher of this city, was jailed tonight for the murder of Edward Moye, a white carpenter of Blackshear, who died here on October 3, of blood poisoning.

Chas. Youman and Clinton Johnson, fellow workmen, say they were with him when he went into the butcher shop. Moye engaged in a tussle with the butcher and was cut on the hand. Several days later, when gangrene set in, he applied for medical treatment. He died at the city hospital that night.

Moye told varying stories about how his hand was hurt, in one of which he exonerated the negro from blame. Moye was well connected at Blackshear, and his friends will push the prosecution.

WE GIVE YOU a few of our investments that we have on our lists, and wish to say that everything in this list is clean and in good repair; none of them shacks that are about to fall down. We invite your inspection of same:

$1,650—Third ward, in good renting section; well built, 6-room house, sidewalks and improvements down; house has been built about three years—never vacant. No agents' commission for collecting rents.

$2,450—Very pretty little cottage of 6 rooms, on belgian block street, close in, on a car line, and in refined white section. Owner now occupies house, but has rented same at $25. It will bring this amount easy.

$1,050—Near Greensferry avenue, West End, good 5-room house, with hall, on level, shaded lot; now rented at $10 to tenant that keeps house in repair at that rental.

$3,300—On East Georgia avenue, well-built two-story house, on nice lot; has seven rooms and all conveniences, in a neighborhood that is splendid; always rented at $30. A clean investment that you can depend on.

$1,000—In the western part of the city, almost new, 4-room house, rented at $10; all improvements down, and always rented. This will bear close inspection.

$650—Near Grant Park, 4-room house, on nice lot, convenient to car line, and will rent easily at $6.50. The lot is worth $450 now, and has a future. House needs some repairs, but is cheap at the price.

$1,500—Two blocks from Georgia avenue, and three blocks from park, nice little 4-room cottage, with bath, sidewalks, city water, gas and sewer; rented at $12.50, but is worth $15, and would make you money to buy and hold; could make some terms on this, and it would be good home proposition for you.

$4,650—On Capitol avenue, beyond Georgia avenue, modern home of 8 rooms and bath; has all conveniences, on beautiful, level lot, with plenty shade; nice garden, some fruit. We can sell you this on terms of $500 cash and $40 month. It will rent easily at $40.

SNAPS.

65 ACRES, just three miles north of Piedmont park, well watered and good for dairy, truck or cattle farm, fine pasture; house and barn. $2,350 buys it, $750 cash, balance three years, 7 per cent. It's dirt cheap at $60 per acre.

FOUR-ROOM house and one acre, all kinds of fruit, at Clarkston, on Georgia railroad, two blocks from depot, in best section of town, $25 cash and $15 per month for forty-six months without interest, buys it. Street car line to Clarkston very soon.

EIGHT-ROOM 2-story house, good condition, and rented to good people; water, gas, sewer and sidewalk, large east front lot; house alone would cost $3,500 or more to build. $2,000 buys it, half cash, balance $25 per month, 7 per cent.

GOOD little farm, 110 acres, DeKalb county, on main public road, plenty wood and running water, fine pasture, 4-room house and all necessary outbuildings; just ten miles from Atlanta. $20 per acre buys it. One-third cash; adjoining farm is not as good, and only 100 acres, can't be bought for $3,000.

$4,500.00 will buy a whole block on two car lines; six-room house, plenty of fruit, just outside the city limits.

90 ACRES, in one of the best counties in the state; about 15 acres in cultivation, and the balance in pasture and timber; enough timber on the place to pay for it. Well watered, has large two-story, eight-room residence that cost $2,700.00 to build, in perfect condition, barns and other outbuildings, good water and in a healthy section. This property belongs to a physician, who has been practising 31 years, and is going to retire. He offers the entire proposition for $2,500.00, $1,700.00 cash, and the balance in four years at 6 per cent interest. This is a splendid chance for a young physician. Act now if you want this bargain.

100 ACRES, about 17 1-2 miles north of Atlanta, on main public road; 25 acres in good, rich land that produces well, and about 70 acres in timber and pasture, watered by two branches. This property is about 1 1-2 miles from railroad station; has young orchard, good five-room cottage, barn and other outhouses. Can be bought for $3,250.00 if taken at once.

390 ACRES, in Floyd county, a river bottom farm; is for sale on account of the owner being a widow, and lives in another part of the state, and cannot devote any time to this place; about 150 acres in a good state of cultivation, 85 acres in bottom on the Etowah river; about 90 acres in timber; two four-room houses, built only a few years, two three-room tenant houses, all in good repair; stable, cribs and other outhouses. Price, $11,000.00, on easy terms.

[illegible] ACRES, on the Chatahoochee river, about 12 miles from Atlanta, with large river frontage; about 200 acres in cultivation, balance in timber and pasture; large two-story, eight-room dwelling, in good condition, good barn and four tenant houses. This can be bought for $6,500.00, all cash.

250 ACRES, 27 miles west of Atlanta; about 150 acres in cultivation and the balance in pasture and timber; good improvements, and in a fine section. Can be bought for $2,450.00, easy terms.

60 ACRES, just off Peachtree road, six miles beyond Buckhead; two public roads run through the property; 30 acres in cultivation, 30 acres in original timber; in less than one-half mile of railroad station; young orchard, seven-room house, barn and three-room tenant house. If you want something good that will be obliged to enhance in value, investigate this at once. Owner leaving, and we are going to sell. You cannot buy adjoining lands for less than $100.00 an acre.

290 ACRES, 100 acres in pasture, under hog-proof fence, with a swift flowing creek running through the middle; 100 acres of practically level land, in a high state of cultivation; five tenant houses, two splendid barns, fine springs; main dwelling house burned some time ago. This land will easily make a bale of cotton to the acre. You can buy this for $6,000.00. The owner rented this place a few years ago, and has paid for it. This will give you an idea as to the value of the farm.

83 ACRES, about 70 miles north of Atlanta, in four miles of railroad station; 50 acres in cultivation, balance in timber and pasture; young orchard, several hundred trees; about 20 acres of this land is good, rich bottom land; three-room house. Price $800.00, easy terms; owner leaving.

140 ACRES of rich red valley land; 100 acres in cultivation, and six-room cottage, tenant house, barn and fine pasture; no waste land on the farm. Price $6,000.00.

160 ACRES, 1 1-2 miles from railroad station; 110 acres in cultivation, balance in timber. Lies in a body almost perfectly level, every foot fertile. Has fine pasture, running water, two good four-room houses, barn, etc. The place is divided by public road, making two nice farms of equal size. Price $4,500.00.

715 ACRES, on the Chattahoochee river, about 25 miles west of Atlanta, new A. & B. R. R. surveyed through the property. The present owner bought this place from a loan company, and recently spent about $2,500.00 on improvements. About 170 acres of this land is rich, level bottom land, in a high state of cultivation; 75 acres in red upland, 100 acres in pasture under wire fence, and 500 acres in timber that will cut on an average of 20 cords to the acre; some saw timber; two-story, six-room residence, five-room house, three-room tenant house, large new two-story barn, cow barn and several other outbuildings. You can buy this for $10.00 an acre, one-third cash, and the balance to suit to acceptable parties. Chance to double your money on this in a short time.

298 ACRES, nearly all creek bottoms; about 150 acres cleared, balance in original timber, enough timber on the place to pay for it. About two miles walk of railroad station. Good four-room house and several other buildings. You can buy this place for $3,000.00, one-third cash, balance one and two years.

170 ACRES, all river bottoms, in two minutes' walk of railroad station, bounded on the east by the Southern railroad, and on the north by the Oostanaula river, 135 acres in a high state of cultivation, balance in timber. Two good residences, tenant house and large hay barn in bottoms. Price $6,000.00, one-half cash, and the balance to suit.

60 ACRES—A cotton, fruit and poultry farm 10 miles north of Marietta, 1,200 feet above the sea-level, in 2.0 yards of thriving little city; churches, schools and bank. About 45 acres in cultivation, balance in pasture and timber; 2,000 peach and apple trees, three wells and running water. One of the best built cottages in the county, new and up-to-date, two-story, six-room double floored, hard oil finsn, beautiful mantels, plastered porcelain bath, concrete and marble foundation, cement walks and telephone in house; two-room wash and cook house, four-room tenant house, three barns and several chicken parks. This will make you an ideal home. Will make you a special price if sold before October 25th. Photographs of the buildings can be seen in my office.

124 ACRES, 60 acres in cultivation, balance in timber. Large two-story, seven-room residence, built only a short time ago, and in perfect condition, two-room servant's house, four-room tenant house, barn and several chicken parks. Improvements alone on this property cost in the neighborhood of $4,000.00. The owner has a position offered him, and in order to accept the same at once he will sacrifice this place for $4,000.00, allowing from $400.00 to $600.00 worth of implements, corn, cotton, fodder, etc. This place is in one mile of railroad station, and will make you a beautiful summer home.

24 ACRES, 6 miles west of Atlanta; macadamized road runs through the place; four-room house, well watered, and just the place for a dairy farm. Price $1,800.00.

77 ACRES, 6 1-2 miles north of Atlanta, with over 800 feet front on the railroad; 20 acres in rich, level red land, balance in timber; three-room tenant house and barn. Price $50.00 an acre, one-half cash.

I HAVE many other attractive propositions that I will be pleased to show you upon application.

SHORT COVERING CAUSED ADVANCE

December Cotton Sold Over January Option.

Close of Market Was Steady at Net Advance if Two to Twenty-One Points. December's Gain Was About Twenty-Eight Points.

New York, October 7.—The cotton market was higher today as a result of covering by nearby shorts and bull support, the features being the relative firmness of the December option. The close was steady at a net advance of 2@21 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 350,000 bales. The opening was steady at a decline of 5@6 points, which was about as due on the cables, but the market quickly rallied by the firmness of interior holders. Under the demand December sold up over January and at the best level in the afternoon showed a premium of about 11 points over the January option and a net gain of about 28 points. Toward the close there was a slight setback under realizing.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, October 7.—Cotton spots were quiet with prices unchanged; middling 11¼. Sales were 200 bales on the spot and 290 to arrive. Futures opened quiet and steady 4 to 6 points below the close of Saturday, Liverpool being lower than expected, which more than offset a somewhat bullish report by a local authority on the crop condition. No support was offered by the bulls, but the expectation of a cold wave put the market up 3 points above the close Saturday and proved the principal factor of the day, for prices continued to advance and at the close, which was steady, the active months ranged from 6 to 8 points above the close Saturday.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, October 7.—Cotton: Spot good business done; prices 5@11 points lower; American middling fair 5.45; good middling 6.99; middling 6.61; low middling 6.21; good ordinary 5.59; ordinary 4.99. Carpenter, Baggot & Co.

New York, October 7.—The feature of the market today was the sudden change in differences between December and January, carrying December to a premium over January. We took occasion to notify our friends, as early as last Tuesday that such a condition would occur as all signs pointed to it. Spot sales in Liverpool today were on a large scale, 10,000 bales being taken and New York state mills were making offers to local spot brokers, all suggesting a renewed demand from spinners. This, in connection with Secretary Hester's figures showing spinners' taking from September 1 to October 4 this year to be 783,000 bales, against 782,000 last year, an excess of 1,000 bales. This furnishes ample contradiction to the statements so freely made that spinners are out of the market and cotton being held. There is no getting around the fact that everything points to a small yield this year at the present time, of under 11,000,000. When the world wakes up to this fact there will be such a clibming for cotton as never before seen. Wires from the south today are to the effect that 150 points on is bid for strict middling cotton in the Mississippi valley at New Orleans, whereas it was only 50 points a few days since. Receipts in the southwest continue infinitesimally small, as compared with last year and bear out our contention of a crop under 11,000,000 bales. With these facts staring us in the face, we fail to see anything ahead but higher prices, punctuated, of course, by recessions from profit taking on the way up.

London Stock Market.

London, October 7.—American securities opened quiet and steady today. During the first hour Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul advanced ⅝ and Southern Pacific declined ⅝, but otherwise the market remained about unchanged from Saturday's New York closing. The poor showing in the New York bank statement and fears of dear money in that market pressed prices here below parity. There was a hardening around noon and the close was heavy.

GREAT NORTHERN WAS THE LEADER

Stock Market Has Another Rather Dull Day.

Announcement of an Extra Dividend to Great Northern Stockholders Was the Most Important Event of the Day and Dispelled Gloom.

New York, October 7.—There was no considerable revival of speculative interest in today's stock market, and its surface was unruffled by any striking movement or any important event. The only feature was the announcement of an extra dividend disbursement to Great Northern stockholders. This proved to be the mainstay of the narrow market, and served as an obstacle to the efforts made early in the session by the professional traders to extend the dragging downward movement which set in on Saturday after the appearance of the bank statement. The Great Northern plum counteracte dthe effect of some of the recent rather gloomy public utterances by the head of the system, which have weighed on the securities of his companies. Similar outgivings were reported from the head of the Atchison system today, but with slight effect on the securities of that system. The professional bears among the traders meet practical experience to prove that holders of securities are not so discouraged as to be willing to part with them at further sacrifice, and the tentative operations by the bears are not extended far. Statistics compiled by The Journal of Commeirce threw further light on the troubles through which the market has been obliged to pass in its showing of new securities for the nine months of the current year, reaching the unparalleled total of $1,928,965,500, exclusive of government bonds, but including municipal issues. The year's market has been burdened, in addition, with the heavy issues made towards the end of last year, one-fifth of last year's total coming in December. The September issues this year were comparatively light and the prospect is for a further decline in askings for new capital for the rest of this year. The Saturday bank statement was not lost sight of, although its influence for active depression was resisted. With the surplus over the legal reserves showing $2,248,075, and with the tide of the currency movement to the interior in full flood, there is small disposition to risk extension of credits fo taking on securities on margin. In London, the Bank of England divided the gold supply in the market with Paris, but was obliged to advance the price of gold to secure so much. Feeling in London appears to be tranquil, however. British consols have made a substantial recovery and investment in London is reported to be improved. Discount declined in Berlin. There was some sensitiveness shown to representatives of reduction of working forces in some lines of industry. Railroad traffic officials admitted some irregularity in the business outlook, but representatives from east and west agreed in the pressure of traffic offering up to the limits of available equipment, and in some cases beyond. Strength in the wheat market was associated with reports of urgent foreign demand, and so was of small effect on stocks. The influence of a further reduction in quotations for copper at the metal exchange was overcome. Notwithstanding the dullness of the market, the tone became distinctly strong at the last.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, $1,386,000. United States fours declined ¼ per cent on call.

PREP TEAMS TIE IN FAST GAME

High School and G. M. A. Fought to Standstill Yesterday.

The Georgia Military academy—Boys' High school football game, at College park yesterday afternoon, resulted in a draw affair, neither team being able to score in a hotly contested game of 15 and 20-minute halves. There was much of the sport out there yesterday; the second teams of the two institutions furnished a very interesting preliminary bout, which the Georgia Military academy won, 10 to 0.

Twice during the main battle a touchdown seemed certain for the High school, but superb defense by the cadet team held their enemy at critical periods, and saved the day. At times the Georgia Military academy line was a regular cinch for the High school backs, who ploughed through it for good gains. After it was discovered that line bucking would produce results, the High school held to this style of play, and end runs were not much in evidence.

It was by a series of gains through the Georgia Military academy line that the High school showed the pigskin within two or three yards of the coveted goal line twice, but when the ball was all but over the cadets took sudden braces, and within the shadow of their goal posts secured the ball on downs. It was immediately booted out of danger, and the Atlanta team would have to start all over again. This strenuous work told on them, and it was Georgia Military academy's great work on the defensive when it was needed most that kiboshed the High school bunch. In a desperate effort to count, Crandall, of the High school, made a difficult attempt at goal from field on one occasion, but failed to get away with it.

Both teams played great ball, and the 0-0 score rightly tells of the comparative strength of the two.

The line-up:

G. M. A.		HIGH SCHOOL.
Schingler	center	Wilkins
Tarver	right guard	A Lobe
Clark	right tackle	McDonald
Colley	left tackle	Ward
May	right end	Coleman
Alford and Whitley.	right half	R. Goree
Bartleson (Capt.) Whitley and Brown.	left half—quarter	G. Goree Crandall
Beard	fullback	Edmondson

R. Goree and McDonald were two of the stars for the High school, and Bartleson, White, Taylor, May and Alford did good work for the Georgia Military academy.

Cain and Johnson scored the touchdowns for Georgia Military academy, one in each half.

RAYMOND MADE GOOD AS DIAMOND CLOWN

Bug Raymond succeeding in drawing the attention of the fans in the big league with his eccentricities, on which an exchange hands out the following:

For the edification of Pittsburg "fans" McCloskey, of the St. Louis Cardinals, trotted out his latest recruit, Mr. Raymond, commonly and appropriately called "Bugs." "Bugs" is "buggy," all right. There isn't a doubt of that, and McCloskey admits it. So does Raymond.

This erratic character is a second edition of "Rube" Waddell in his actions, probably going even a step further than the noted and notorious George Edward, from Prospect Pa. He is a big fellow, standing more than six feet in height and tipping the beam at more than 200 pounds. McCloskey dug him up in Charleston, S. C., where he put in last summer pitching for the South Atlantic League team.

He attracted the attention of the fans before the game started. While warming up he yelled at the grand stand, "Hey, you guys up there, come on down here and watch me shoot a few. Oh, I can do it. McCloskey says I'm a wonder." Then, turning to the St. Louis bench, he bawled out, "Hey, Mac, ain't I a wonder?"

When Willis came out to warm up Raymond saw him and yelled, "Hey, you, come on over here and let me show you how to pitch." As he steamed one to his catcher he said, "Guess I'm pitching some, ain't I?" And thus he kept it up.

In several innings he pitched fine ball and the spectators applauded him as he walked to the bench. "Bugs" took off his cap, thrust out his chest and one foot, and bowed and scraped. At another time he did a cakewalk for the benefit of the laughing spectators.

While Raymond was warming up and performing his antics a spectator called down to "Texas" Karger, who was standing near "Bugs:" "What ails him, Eddie?" Karger said nothing, but merely tapped his forehead in a suggestive way.

STREET CAR AND AUTO HAVE MIX-UP IN AUGUSTA

Mr. and Mrs. Richards Were Both Painfully Hurt — Young Boy Uninjured.

Augusta, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Two persons were hurt in a smash-up here yesterday afternoon when open street car No. 49 struck broadcast an automobile containing Ferdinand Richards, his wife and young son. None were fatally hurt.

The trolley car was moving at a fair rate along Lincoln street toward the intersection with Telfair street. At the same moment Mr. Richards came down Telfair in his machine at a rapid rate. Neither seemed to see the other. The car struck the motor just as the latter was in the middle of the track, and smashed it to pieces. Mr. Richards was hurled to the ground and sustained cuts and sprains on both arms. Mrs. Richards was cut and bruised, the most serious injury being a deep but not dangerous cut on her forehead, above the right eye.

The strange part of the accident was that the son, who was sitting in the tonneau on the side directly toward the street car, was unhurt.

WHEAT REACHED NEW HIGH RECORD

May Delivery Was $1.09 3-4 at the Close.

December Sold at 3-4 — Sentiment in Pit Was Bullish All Day—Corn Was Strong on Account of the Advance in Wheat. Oats Firm.

Chicago, October 7.—The wheat market was strong today and prices soared to new high record marks for the season. At the close wheat for December delivery showed a net gain of 1⅝@1¾c. Corn was up ⅝@⅞c. Oats were ⅝c higher and provisions a shade to 5c higher. Wheat bears were hunted hard today and in their endeavor to cover short sales they bid up prices fully 2c. At the highest point of the day, which was also the high point of the season, the May delivery sold at $1.09¾ and December at $1.03⅝. Sentiment in the pit was extremely bullish all day. The market was influenced at the opening by an advance of more than 1d at Liverpool, which was due, it was said, to lack of rain in India. Commission houses and shorts were eager bidders, but offerings were comparatively light. The demand continued urgent all day, being inspired, to some extent, by liberal purchases of cash wheat for export, it being estimated that more than sixty boat loads had been taken by foreigners. Other bullish factors were small primary receipts and strong markets at Minneapolis and Winnipeg. The market eased off a trifle on realizing sales, but the close was strong. December opened ½ to ⅞ higher at $1.02½ to $1.02½, sold up to $1.03⅝ and closed at $1.03@1.03¼. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 813,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,198,000 bushels, against 1,541,000 on the same day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 601 cars, against 705 cars last week and 1,130 cars one year ago.

The corn market was strong all day, because of the upturn in wheat. Large primary receipts and weather for the crop, too, seemed to have little effect on the market. The close was strong. December opened ⅛@¼@⅜c higher at 58⅛@58⅜ to 58¾, advanced to 59¼ and closed at 59½. Local receipts were 622 cars, with 16 cars of contract grade.

There was only a small trade in oats and the market was firm in sympathy with wheat and corn. Shorts were the principal buyers. December opened ¼c higher at 53¾, advanced to 53⅝ and closed at 53½. Local receipts were 461 cars.

Provisions were strong early in the day, because of higher prices for live hogs, but eased off later on selling by a local packer. At the close January pork was up 5c at $15.80. Lard was a shade higher at $8.77@8.80. Ribs were 2½ higher at $7.95.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow are: Wheat 89 cars; corn 476 cars; oats 302 cars; hogs 17,000 head.

We have just installed a complete Electrotype Foundry—the first of the kind ever established in the south, and one of the most up-to-date plants in the world.

Our prices are no higher than elsewhere, though our men are the most expert in the business. And we guarantee to make from the most delicate lines of type, or from finest halftones, electrotype or nickeltype plates that will print equal to the original and last longer.

If you have jobs requiring long runs of presswork, by all means get Electrotypes—as many as you can lock up on your press at one time. This is the only way to compete with other printing concerns.

Our workmanship is always of the best—which means the best—and we make prices based strictly upon the principle of giving our customers a square deal.

Out-of-town business given careful attention. Write, or call and see our plant. We want to do your work.
